FINAL WEEK; MUCH TO DO

End of Legislative Session is Near and Bulk of Work is Undone.

PLATFORM BILLS REMAIN TO PASS

General News and Gossip of the Legislature of Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—An even twelve hundred bills have been introduced in the Indiana legislature with one more week to go, but it is thought that not any of the members of either house will attempt to offer any additional measures as there would be absolutely no chance of passage except under a suspension of the rules. Seven hundred and fifty-one of these bills have been offered in the house and 449 in the senate. The senate has received from the house 151, of which it has passed 42.

The senate has passed 174 senate bills, which makes the total of its accomplishments in terms of bills passed 216. It has ready for passage 86 house bills and 138 senate bills, many of which will not be acted upon because of the short time remaining for action.

Thirty-seven bills have been killed by the senate in committee, eight have been withdrawn by the authors and nine have been defeated on the floor. Sixteen have been signed by the governor.

In number of bills presented this legislature is not unusual. It is said there were 1,500 offered at the sixty-fifth session and only a thousand at the sixty-sixth, making the present or sixty-seventh session about an average between the two.

The Coroner's Bill.

Senator Shively, of Marion, author of the coroner's bill, which would prevent that official from holding an inquest except on the affidavit of a resident of the county duly filed with the clerk of the circuit court, has prepared an entirely new bill which he will offer as an amendment when the original bill comes up for action in the senate.

He has decided to place the coroners on a straight salary, based upon the fees collected during the past year. The salary is not absolutely stated, but a maximum and minimum is designated beyond which it would be unlawful to go. Authority is vested in the county commissioners to fix the figure which shall be received by the coroner, the decision to be reached at the April meeting preceding the election of coroners.

In counties having a population of 150,000 or more the minimum shall be $2,000 and maximum $3,000; more than 75,000, not less than $1,200 nor more than $1,800; 50,000 and over, $500 to $800; 35,000 and over, $350 to $800; 20,000 and over, $250 to $500; 10,000 and over, $50 to $150; less than 10,000, from $25 to $100.

Senator Shively believes that this change will have the effect of doing away with useless inquests as his original bill was intended to do, but he feared that people would hesitate to make affidavit that they believed death resulted from wrongful acts or unusual causes and that proper inquests would therefore be prevented.

Broke Into Quiet Meeting.

The "lid" as a rule sets lightly on committee meetings, caucuses and the like in the legislature, but it is seldom that it is forgotten, lost or thrown away.

The other night a newspaper man, snooping around the edges of a meeting of the congressional reapportionment committee at the Denison hotel, found the door ajar and slipped in. He had not been long esconced in an easy chair within ear shot of all that was being said, until he was detected, and respectfully, but emphatically ordered to be gone.

As he left the room he stumbled against the elongated ear of another newspaper man who had been in the meeting from the very beginning. The "hance" meeting of two nocturnal scribes revealed the identity of the one with the prolix auditory organ, and the two went out together.

Both had good stories.

NO TRACE OF GEMS; NO CLUE TO THIEF

Disappearance of $130,000 Worth of Pearls from Ship Stateroom.

MRS DRUMMOND LOSER

New York, Feb. 27.—Federal authorities and local police alike actively interested themselves today in a continued search for the almost priceless jewelry stolen from a cabinet drawer in the state room of Mrs. Maldwin Drummond, formerly Mrs. Marshall Field, jr., of Chicago, on the liner Amerika some time during Saturday night.

Value of $130,000.

Mrs. Drummond estimates the money value of the purloined stones at $130,000, but considers them worth far in excess of that sum to her personally, because of the unique character of the missing articles of jewelry, which include three strings of white pearls, 283 in number, earings of black pearls surrounded by more than eighty diamonds, black pearl and white pearl rings and a shield-shaped brooch of black and pink pearls surrounded by diamonds with a pendant of a large spherical black pearl. Mr. and Mrs. Drummond had intended to proceed today to Chicago, but instead Mrs. Drummond said the loss of the jewels had changed their plans and they expected to remain here for several days to aid, in whatever way might be possible in the search for the gems and to be ready to identify them if found.

It is planned to extend the search to all parts of the country if trace of the gems is not immediately secured here. A search of the steamer failed to reveal a clew to the jewels or the identity of the person who took them. It is possible the valuables are concealed in some part of the big vessel and with this possibility in view it will be searched from stem to stern today.

Mrs. Drummond was returning to this country after an absence of nearly three years. She missed the jewels Sunday morning from the drawer in her state room where they had been placed the night before after she had worn them at dinner on shipboard.

CINCINNATI BOSS IS AGAIN INDICTED

Perjury is Basis of New Bill Found Against George B. Cox.

PUBLIC MONEY GRAFT

Cincinnati, Feb. 27.—A new indictment charging Geo. B. Cox, the political leader of Cincinnati, with perjury, was returned today by the Hamilton county grand jury.

It alleges that in addition to the receipt of $48,500 interest money paid by banks to Former County Treasurer John H. Gibson, as charged in the first indictment, that Cox was given $17,500 from the same source by Tilden R. French when the latter was county treasurer.

OPENS NEW STATION.

The handsome new interurban station at Springfield, Ohio, erected by the Ohio Electric Railway, has been completed and will be opened to the public for inspection Wednesday, March 1st, from 4 to 6 p. m., and from 7 to 9 p. m. There will be music and ladies will be provided with souvenirs. This station is within one square of the heart of the city and is the finest in the state. Off of the commodious waiting room there is a ladies' rest room; also an up to date restaurant and barber shop.

STRIKE IN CORSET FACTORY.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 27.—Seven hundred men and girls employed by the Kalamazoo Corset company went on strike today. A cut of from 1 to 3 cents per dozen on piece work precipitated the strike. Groups of young women strikers paraded the streets during the day.

SENATE CUTS STATE'S BELT

Adds $111,000 to Specific Appropriation Bills by the House.

GENERAL BILL IS ALSO ENLARGED

Constitution Measure is to Pass Senate Some Time During the Day.

Indianapolis, Feb. 27.—On motion of Representative Cravens the house refused this afternoon to concur in the senate amendments to the two appropriation bills. The senate increased the two bills $128,620.17.

The house also advanced the Beal-Shively liability bill to third reading.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—Twenty-five thousand dollars was added to the specific appropriations bill this morning in the senate when that measure was put on its passage, for the purchase of land for an industrial school for negro children. Eighteen hundred dollars was added for the compilation of a legislative manual. Both the appropriation bills were passed by the senate as well as three others.

In the house a busy session was held in the passage of twenty-three bills, the killing of the Keegan woman suffrage bill, the reconsideration and passage of the Wood's bill affecting the salaries of police in cities of a population between 10,000 and 35,000.

The senate considered the general appropriations bill first, making but little change in its condition. A provision was added by which any insurance money paid for fire losses shall be paid into the state treasury and then be reappropriated to the institution sustaining the loss.

Colored People Overlooked.

The $25,000 addition to the specific measure came on a motion by Senator Stotzenburg, who called attention to the fact that the colored people of the state had been neglected in the charity work of the commonwealth and that there were many negro children in the southern part of Indiana who are now unable to get sufficient schooling. The amendment was adopted without opposition.

Senator Fleming by request proposed an amendment to appropriate $1,800 for the completion of a legislative manual by the state librarian and after a short discussion this was declared adopted by the chair on a very close viva voce vote.

As the bill now stands there is a gross increase over the amount as it came from the house of $112,440.17, with a reduction of $500, making the net addition of $111,940.17.

General Bill Larger.

The general bill carries a gross increase of $17,680 with a reduction of $1,000, or a net addition over the house bill of $16,680, making the total increase of both bills in the senate $128,520.17.

Three other measures were passed by the senate, the Kistler bills permitting the adoption of a child in any county of the state instead of only at Indianapolis, and the one providing for the incorporation of poultry associations for exhibition purposes. The Halleck bill for the establishment of county tuberculosis hospitals was passed without a dissenting vote.

These measures were passed under a suspension of the rules, although several members expressed strong objections to holding up the roll call for bills at this late stage of the session.

Takes Up Constitution Bill.

The senate will this afternoon take up the Stotzenburg constitution bill on third reading and passage. Democratic senators will speak in defense of the measure and will support both the question of its legality and the merits of the proposed change. It has been tentatively arranged that there will be an hour of debate on either side without reference to the ten-minute rule for each speaker. Senator Stotzenburg will probably open the argument for the measure while Senator Curtis will close the debate.

Bills in the House.

Among the bills passed by the house were the Oldaker measure providing for the pay of school teachers while attending institutes and the Branaman bill making eligible for the office of state superintendent of schools graduates of the state normal school, Indiana university and Purdue university. The Stevens bill providing for the appointment of probate commissioners was passed as was the Corr measure concerning proceedings in civil cases as to applications for new trials.

Other bills passed by the house were the Veach measure concerning the deposit of public funds, the Butcher measure providing for Indiana's participation in the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the battle of Gettysburg. One platform measure was passed by the house namely the Wise bill providing for the appointment by the governor of the state mine inspector. The Veach bill providing for the appointment of the state mine inspector by the state geologist will be withdrawn by the author. The Duncan and Racey bills governing the construction and maintenance of levees were put through on one roll call without opposition. The Branaman bill authorizing cities, counties and townships to appropriate money for hospital purposes was passed as also was the Branaman measure providing for a summary court

WOODYARD WOULD REMAIN FOREMAN

Head of Danville Grand Jury Does Not Want to Be Displaced.

DEATH STILL FEARED

Danville, Ill., Feb. 27.—There are prospects of a further adjournment of the grand jury this afternoon pending the death or recovery of Foreman Woodyard, who is ill at his home in Ridge farm. Judge Kimbrough stated this morning that he had been told that Mr. Woodyard wished to continue his work as foreman of the jury, and when the body assembles this afternoon Judge Kimbrough will impart to its members the information that has come to him. If they desire to take a further recess, time will be granted them; but if they insist on continuing the work a new foreman will be appointed and business taken up this afternoon where it was left off last Monday.

What Judge Kimbrough Says.

Judge Kimbrough said this morning.

"It has come to me that Mr. Woodyard is considerably worried for fear that another foreman will be appointed to succeed him. I do not wish to do anything to hamper this investigation and if the other members of the grand jury are content to await his recovery they will stand adjourned until his recovery. If they do not I shall appoint another foreman."

A telephone message from Ridge farm this morning stated that Mr. Woodyard was doing as well as can be expected, and while the danger point is passed, it will be some time before he is sufficiently recovered to resume his duties.

During Governor Carroll's administration occurred the famous Baltimore and Ohio railroad strike, one of the greatest in railroad history. Federal aid had to be sought before the strike was broken.

BANKER ROBIN IS PLACED ON TRIAL

New Yorker is Alleged to Have Looted Bank He Was Dominating.

PROMISE SENSATIONS

New York, Feb. 27.—With the calling of the case of Joseph G. Robin, the indicted banker, in Supreme Court Justice Seabury's court today an important chapter in the history of bank wrecking prosecutions here bade fair to be opened. Robin, whose financial operations caused the closing of three banks, including the Northern bank of New York, is being prosecuted on the charge of the theft of $25,000 from the Washington Savings bank, one of the closed institutions, of which he was president.

Sensations Promised.

Indications of possible sensational developments during the trial were not wanting, as Robin declared that he would give many men of prominence in finance, whom he classes as his enemies, occasion to regret their alleged persecution of him. Robin has been legally declared sane, although alienists for the state and the prisoner in the sanity proceedings pronounced him mentally unbalanced.

In the case which goes on today, District Attorney Whitman will seek to show that Robin stole $27,000 from the Washington Savings bank and sought to cover up the theft by using the Northern bank and other companies which he controlled as blinds. There are eight indictments against the defendant. The aggregate amount of the alleged thefts charged is $207,000.

DEAD WAR MINISTER BURIED.

Imposing Military Funeral for General Brun in Paris.

Paris, Feb. 27.—An imposing military funeral for General Brun, the late minister of war, was held today. The entire garrison of Paris participated, President Fallieres, the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, members of parliament and of the French institute and those distinguished in every walk of life assembled in the grand salon of the ministry of war which had been transformed into a mortuary chapel and where yesterday thousands viewed the body as it lay in state.

Premier Briand, on behalf of the government, and General Michael, for the army, paid eloquent tributes to the memory of General Brun.

Among the floral pieces was a wreath from Jacob M. Dickinson, the American secretary of war.

BRIAND MINISTRY HAS QUIT OFFICE

French Cabinet Resigns in Accordance With Expectation.

HAD A STORMY TIME

Paris, Feb. 27.—Premier Aristide Briand, who succeeded Clemenceau as head of the French cabinet on July 23, 1909, today tendered the resignation of his ministry to President Fallieres. On November 20 last Briand formally retired, but a few hours later was restored to power and formed a new cabinet from which all elements not thoroughly in sympathy with his attitude toward labor had been eliminated.

The situation at present is wholly different and the premier had declared himself weary of the bickerings of parliament and the intrigues of the groups nominally supporting him and expressed the wish that he might be relieved of the responsibility of government.

Had Fought the Socialists.

For a year and a half Briand had successfully combated the socialistic parties with which he was originally affiliated, but on last Friday night, when he was attacked on the ground that he had not enforced the laws against the congregations as set forth in the separation act, the government escaped censure by the slim majority of sixteen votes. At a conference on Saturday the ministers determined to resign so soon as today's obsequies for General Brun, the late minister of war, had been held.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the cabinet met at the Elysee palace with President Fallieres and soon afterward the announcement of its retirement was made.

The Retiring Ministry.

The retiring ministers are:

Premier Briand; justice, Girard; foreign affairs, Pichon; marine, Admiral Boue de la Payrere; public instruction, Faure; finance, Klotz; commerce, Dupuy; agriculture, Raynaud; colonies, Moret; labor, Lafferre; public works, Puech.

General Brun, minister of war, died February 23.

Later in the afternoon it was announced that President Fallieres had accepted the resignation of the cabinet.

FEW PLACES IN LIMELIGHT TODAY

Northeastern Indiana to Figure Largely in Tuesday Vote.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—Today marks the beginning of the local option elections under the new Proctor law providing cities and townships as the unit with the voting in six townships and two cities in Lawrence county. The county voted dry under the county option law and a hard fight, which will not end until the polls close tonight, is being waged by both sides. Elections are being held today in the cities of Bedford and Mitchell and the townships of Spice Valley, Bono, Indiana Creek, Marshall, Guthrie and Shawmick.

Will Vote Tuesday.

Several cities and townships of the following fourteen counties will take the vote under the Proctor measure Tuesday: Tipton, Wabash, Fayette, Hamilton, Grant, Huntington, Howard, Pike, Switzerland, Putnam, Carroll, Fountain, Rush and Noble. One township in Jay county will vote March 4 and one in Shelby March 7.

Yesterday was rally day in most of the places where elections are to be held soon and both the wets and drys put forth their best orators. Senator Proctor spoke at a meeting of the wets in Huntington and he was answered by Mayor James A. Rice, of Canton, Ohio, for the drys.

WANT FIRST OPTION ELECTION.

Petitions Asking for It Now Circulating in Perry Township.

Petitions asking for a local option election are now in circulation in Perry township, and it is expected that within a few days the necessary number of signatures will be secured. The county commissioners will then be asked to call the first option election in Allen county, though many townships have been made "dry" by remonstrance. Perry township contains the town of Huntertown, where two saloons are located, and which has been the "oasis" for the thirsty in a big area of dry territory north of it in DeKalb and Nobles counties.

AUSTRALIA WILL BAR AMERICAN BEEF TRUST FROM THAT LAND

News That the Chicago Crowd Was Preparing to Make Descent on the Antipodean Continent Cause Government to Get Busy With Preparations to Receive the Proposed Visit.

Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 27.—The commonwealth of Australia served notice on the business world today that it would not harbor foreign "trusts." The following memorandum on the subject was given to the press by Sir R. W. Best, minister of trade and customs:

"For several months past it has been an open secret that representatives of the American meat trust have been visiting Australia ostensibly with the object of extending its operations here. The government is determined to take immediate and drastic action to discourage and, if necessary, to prohibit its operations in Australia. It is not proposed to wait until the combine secures vested interests in this country.

"The minister of trade and customs is consulting with the attorney general with the view to bringing the full force of the present law into operation, and if necessary obtaining further legislation.

"The action of the government will extend to trust operations in Australia whether conducted directly or indirectly and will not permit the repetition in Australia of the scandals and merciless methods characterizing monopolies in other parts of the world."

MOVES UP TO SECOND PLACE

Fort Wayne U. C. T. Council Passes Evansville in Membership.

BANQUET AND BALL

With the initiation of a class of thirty-five candidates Saturday afternoon, Fort Wayne council No. 212, United Commercial Travelers, moved up to second place in Indiana, passing Evansville in membership and leaving Indianapolis alone ahead of the local organization in numerical strength. The Fort Wayne membership is now 220. The initiatory session opened at 2:30 o'clock, and members were present from councils at Van Wert, Toledo, Indianapolis, South Bend, Anderson and Muncie.

The evening was given over to a magnificent banquet and ball at the Anthony hotel, in which approximately 150 couples participated. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and the banquet followed at 10. The occasion was the first of its kind ever attempted by Fort Wayne council, and its success has determined the membership to repeat the affair annually. Arrangefor the rally, feast and ball were in charge of a committee composed of Beekner, George O. Feustel, John W. Anderson, Ed C. Carter, Charles Pichon and John Cook.

Roggen Bill Unopposed.

There was no opposition to the Roggen bill providing liability for concealing of property from taxation when it was placed on its passage. The house looked with favor on the Mendenhall measure giving counties owning cottages at the state soldiers' home first right to their use by residence of the county erecting the same, the measure being passed without a dissenting vote.

The handing down this morning for third reading of the Keegan bill extending to women the right of franchise in municipal elections was the signal for a bit of by-play. A run of "ayes" would be followed by a shower of "noes," the leaders always taking care, however, that the "ayes" were never too plentiful.

After the reading of the measure by the clerk, Representative Buennagel very ungallantly moved to strike out the enacting clause. Minority Leader Eschbach promptly demanded the "ayes" and "noes." The representative from Marion county withdrew his motion to strike out the enacting clause on the request of Speaker Veneman. The vote taken on the bill was 48 against and 41 for.

SCHWEGMAN WILL TAKE THE PLACE

Decides to Become Member of the Board of Public Works.

CITY HALL MATTERS

Gustave A. Schwegman, to whom Mayor Jesse Grice offered a place on the board of public works caused by the resignation of Henry Hilgemann, announced today that he would take take the position and that he will be ready to assume office the first of March.

He had not heard until the retirrement of Mr. Hilgemann was announced that he was the choice of the mayor. They talked the matter over on Saturday night and Schwegan asked until this morning to decide. He thought it over and agreed to enter the public service. He was not an applicant for the place and as a matter of fact nobody had asked for it as it was not known that Mr. Hilgemann would quit.

Mr. Schwegman is forty-three years old and was formerly engaged in the dry goods business on South Calhoun street. He retired and after his defeat for nomination for city clerk became identified with the Old Fort Knitting mills.

Wil Begin Pretty Soon.

It is announced by the board of public works that the paving of Calhoun street from Superior to Eureka will be taken up just as soon as the contractor can get at it. The board will insist that just as soon as the weather will admit of digging that the excavations shall be made and the paving completed without unnecessary delay.

There is some good sporting blood in the veins of the board and while they want all public work rushed they are anxious that this piece of paving be done in plenty of time to get out of the way for the baseball season. They don't want the thoroughfare torn up all summer.

Work at the Calhoun street crossing will not be resumed it is thought before the middle of April. The paving is yet to be put under the tracks and the board members want good weather for this.

SAW BURGLAR ON PORCH.

Man Tried to Enter Home But Was Scared Away.

Charles Llewellyn, ticket agent at the interurban station, reported today that an attempt was made to rob his home at 1209 Crescent avenue early this morning. He says his wife awakened him about 5:30 o'clock and said she heard a noise on the roof of the porch. He got up in time to see the fellow climb down one of the pillars and make his escape.

Mr. Llewellyn says he called to the man, who was approaching a window to his bed room, and that he saw him distinctly. The fellow got away without being apprehended in spite of the fact that there are a number of people on Crescent avenue usually at that hour on their way to the first car for the city. A description of the man was furnished.

ORDINANCE WILL GET TO COUNCIL

Mr. Wagner Will Ask That Weights and Measures Law Pass.

GROCER IN A LETTER

Along with a big grist of business that will include the track elevation contract for Fairfield avenue and Broadway the ordinance for the appointment of a city sealer will go to the city council at its session tomorrow night.

Councilman Wagner has signed a favorable report and left it with the city clerk. Mr. Rogge and Mr. Braun, the other members of the committee, have not decided what they will do, but the favorable report, even if it is in the minority, will give the members a chance to vote on it.

True to his word Councilman Harry Penniger demonstrated the necessity for such an officer as the measure will provide. He produced a computing scale to show that what is usually sold under the present system for four pounds of beans actually weighed but three and a half on the same scale.

The beans were sold a pound at a time. Four separate packages were weighed out and put back in a lump on the score and the purchase was short half a pound. It was shown there were two figure 4's on the scale and that when there were fourteen ounces on the platform the first of these figures appeared indicating that there was a pound being given. There are seventeen of the same kind of scales in use in Fort Wayne.

Another demonstration was offered when a boy was sent out to buy beans advertised at three quarts for a quarter. They were sold by liquid measure and when they were tested under dry measure there were found to be two and a half quarts.

Mr. Braun says he wants the ordinance to pass, but does not desire to incur the expense of a sealer. He thinks the duties should be combined with those of market master. Lawrence Heiny appeared before the board and made an address asking a favorable report.

Mr. Heiny's Letter.

His position is given in the following letter:

Editor of The Sentinel: Here are conditions that prevailed during the year 1910 in Fort Wayne:

Potatoes, standard weight, 60 pounds to the bushel. Basket measure gives weight of from 50 to 55 pounds to the bushel. With 13,000 families, an average of 5 bushels to the family per year will give a total of 65,000 bushels used. Average shortage of 5 pounds to the bushel shows a loss to the consumer of 325,000 pounds, or 5,416 2-3 bushels. An average price of 60 cents per bushel shows a money loss of $3,250.

Apples, standard weight, 50 pounds to the bushel. Estimate of 15,000 bushels consumed. Basket measure weighs from 40 to 45 pounds. Five pound average loss per bushel to consumer gives loss of 75,000 pounds or 1,500 bushels, which at $1.00 per bushel is a monetary loss of $1,500.

Navy beans, standard weight 60 pounds to the bushel. Thirteen thousand families will consume about one pound per day or 4,745,000 pounds per year, or 79,083 1-3 bushels. This is a total of 2,530,666 quarts. Liquid measure quarts used in measuring beans weighs 28 ounces. The dry measure, correct method quart, will weigh 30 ounces. The loss to the consumer at a price of 10 cents per quart is $1,807.61 as the use of a liquid measure means a gain of two ounces per quart or 180,761 quarts on the entire quantity sold.

Cranberries should be sold by dry measure. There are 500,000 quarts sold each year in Fort Wayne and each quart sold by liquid measure weighs but 14 ounces, while sold by dry measure each quart should weigh 16 ounces. A gain of two ounces on 500,000 quarts gives 71,428 quarts, which, sold at an average price of 10 cents per quart, represents a loss to the consumers of $7,142.85.

Respectfully,
LAWRENCE E. HEINY.

NUMBER OF JAPS HAS DIMINISHED

Fewer Laborers by 11,000 in United States Than Three Years Ago.

TOTAL LOSS IS 6,371

San Francisco, Feb. 27.—The number of Japanese laborers in the United States has decreased by 11,152 in the past three years, according to the Japanese foreign office. The figures were made public yesterday by Matsuzo Nagai, Japanese consul general here.

In the three complete years, 1908, 1909 and 1910, the report shows 14,257 laborers returned to Japan from the United States, while only 3,105 left for this country.

Of the non-laboring class, on the other hand, there was a slight increase in the number settling in America, 5,650 leaving their country for America and 575 returning home.

The report indicates that the United States has lost 6,371 Japanese of all classes by excess of departures over arrivals in the last three years.

DAVIS MUST NOT SMOKE OR DRINK

If He Does He Will Lose $200 Under Will of His Father.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

Samuel Dwight Davis must not get in the habit of using tobacco or liquor before he is twenty-one years of age under penalty of losing $200 of the inheritance that will come to him under the will of his father the late Samuel H. Davis which was offered for probate in the circuit court today.

Mr. Davis executed this will on February 16 and all of his property both real and personal is left to his widow during her life with provisions to sell any property that may be necessary to pay his debts. Because James Harvey Davis, the oldest son, was deprived of a high school education his father left him $1,000 in cash. In addition he and his brother, Samuel Dwight Davis are to get $500 each and the liquor and tobacco clause appears under the head of this bequest. If the habits or either of them are formed the $200 forfeit is to be deducted from this amount and to go into the general estate.

The remaining estate is to be divided at the death of the wife between the children named and Zon C., Esther L., Blanche M. and Orpha M. Davis.

A Suit for False Arrest.

Isaac Yarian, has entered suit in the superior court against Dan W. Kintz, sergeant of police, and Ambrose W. and Frank A. Kintz, his bondsmen, asking $1,000 for false imprisonment.

The action grew out of the arrest of Yarian on September 3 of last year. He was taken from a street car at the transfer corner and says that he was not violating any law at the time nor was there any complaint lodged against him. The complainant says he was struck and bruised at the time of the arrest and hauled to headquarters in a patrol wagon. There is already a damage suit in which the conductor of the car on which Yarian was riding is made a party. This has been set for trial in April.

Struck and Abused Her.

Ella Barnhill has entered suit in the superior court for a divorce from William D. Barnhill. Both are engaged in the practice of medicine and they live at 2727 Hanna street. They were married in April, 1888, and she alleges that a beating he gave her on February 24 in which he cut and bruised her mouth was the last she felt like standing for and she wants to be relieved of his ill treatment.

She alleges in her complaint that he has never provided, has forced her to buy clothing and the furniture for their house, and that he has beaten, struck and choked her and has threatened to kill her. Thomas and Townsend filed the suit.

The Circuit Court Criminal Cases.

Floyd Proper, charged with the theft of a watch from his father, was sentenced to from one to eight years in the Jeffersonville reformatory. The sentence was suspended.

Louis "Frenchy" Bruner was sentenced to ninety days in jail for failure to provide for his childrern. He has been locked up several months and on his promise to pay $15 a month to his wife, the sentence was suspended.

A case of Katherine Duplain, appealed after she had been fined on a trespass charge for killing a chicken a few weeks old, was set for trial March 6. Edward Fairfield, charged with assault and battery, and J. Thomas Reed, charged with provoke, were set for March 7.

WILL CLING TO OLD INSIGNIA

Traction System Still to Be Known as Wabash Valley Route.

OFFICERS GO EAST

Despite the fact that the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company is soon to pass out of existence to be succeeded by the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, which has just been organized, local officials say the interurban line will still be known as "The Wabash Valley route," and that the Swastika emblem or trademark will be retained upon the cars. It is known that there was some regret upon the part of many directors at the passing of "Wabash Velley" from the corporate name of the company. The new name is said to have been originated by J. M. Barrett, chief counsel for the corporation.

H. J. Bowerfind, H. E. Vordermark and A. H. Mohr, temporary officers of the new company, accompanied by Mr. Barrett, left yesterday for New York, where the transfer will be completed and where the new financial interests will become formally affiliated with the Fort Wayne property. At a later meeting to be held in Fort Wayne the eleven temporary directors will resign and will be succeeded by the permanent officers. It is now believed that J. Levering Jones, of Philadelphia, will continue at the head of the traction property as president.

Following the lines of the old company, the articles of incorporation permits the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana company to operate in sixty-five cities and towns in the following counties: Allen, Adams, Jay, Wells, Huntington, Wabash, Grant, Miami, Cass, Carroll, Clinton, Whitley, DeKalb, Noble, Elkhart, Marshall and Kosciusko. The scope is made sufficiently broad to provide for any future development of the property that may be desired.

THE DEATHS.

WILHELM.

Mrs. Lillie Sargent Wilhelm, wife of John Wilhelm, of Poe, died at her home in that place today after an extended illness from tuberculosis. She was 42 years of age and is survived by the husband and her parents.

Mrs. Wilhelm was the daughter of John and Charlotte Sargent, born in Cleveland, July 7, 1869, and came with her parents to Allen county in 1871. She was converted twenty years ago under the preaching of Rev. J. C. White, and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at that time. For ten years, or since its organization, Mrs. Wilhelm had been a faithful member and an active worker in the M. E. church at Poe. She was a woman of beautiful character with a wide circle of friends.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence and at 1:30 from the M. E. church at Poe, Rev. Mr. Johnson officiating.

MORSE.

Mrs. Mary J. Morse, 78 years of age, died Saturday afternoon in the Old People's home at Avilla, where she had lived for some time. Mrs. Morse was the mother of Mrs. William Schwartz, of this city, and of Charles Morse, of Goshen.

The remains were brought to Fort Wayne at noon Monday and were taken to the Klaehn & Melching undertaking rooms.

POST LIGHTS TO RUN INTO MONEY

Estimates Place Them at Over $800 for Each City Square.

FIGURES SUBMITTED

According to estimates submitted by Frank Dix, chief electrician of the city lighting department, post lights on the down town streets will cost $864 a square. This is to be assessed against property owners if the plan is adopted.

Mr. Dix's figures are as follows:

Conduits	$125
Cables	125
Switches, etc	50
Lamps	45
Globes	19
Posts	500
Total	$864

Members of the board of public works are getting ready to begin the work of putting in the posts and want some figures to submit to the committees that have had the matter in charge of the local commercial organizations that have been pushing the improvement.

This is the first time that the board has gotten down to the actual figures and the members have been in consultation over them during the day. Mr. Dix says the estimates are close and the cost may exceed this amount.

Bill Before Senate.

H. G. Hogan, city attorney, returned to Indianapolis this morning after spending Sunday here. He says the Fort Wayne track elevation bill will be up for a second reading in the senate tomorrow morning and will probably pass.

He also says that South Bend is having a hard time and the city officials attribute their trouble to a railroad lobby. As a retaliatory measure the officials propose to enforce the eight-mile-an-hour law in the limits. This will be a hardship on the Lake Shore because its eighteen-hour trains do not even hesitate there.

Cunningham in the City.

C. O. Cunningham, chief civil engineer of the Wabash system, was at the city hall today. His visit was for the purpose of securing assurance that Fairfield avenue will not be closed when the city begins its elevation work there. To abandon traffic means that the Wabash freight house cannot be conveniently reached. Mr. Cunningham was told that the street will be left open.

SENATE TAKES UP LORIMER CHARGE

By a Vote in Which Some of His Enemies Help It is Ordered.

SPEECHES TO COME

Washington, Feb. 27.—The senate today turned to the Lorimer case half an hour or more before it was to have come before the body as the unfinished business. A vote was necessary, however, before the matter could be brought forward, but those disposed to expedite consideration of the case embraced not only those who favor the Illinois senator's retention of his seat, but a number of those who oppose him. The vote stood 66 to 12.

Senator Crawford, of South Dakota, was the first speaker. Several more are to be heard. Senator Stone gave notice of a desire to speak on the case on Wednesday, but it is within the range of possibilities that a vote may be forced by Lorimer's friends before that time—perhaps today.

AUCTION SELLING IN JAPAN.

Sealed bids are used in auctioning property in Japan. There is no shouting. The auctioneer announces to the audience that he has such and such a piece of property for sale and invites bids. Those who wish to bid write their bids and names on slips of paper. The paper is folded and placed in a box. When the auctioneer sees no more bids coming he opens the box and sorts out the bids. The highest bid takes the property.

It is like a bond sale, no one knows what his neighbor bids. If a bidder is anxious to get the property he will not put in a small offer.

On the contrary he will very likely bid all the property is worth. For this reason an owner never puts up his property for auction unless he wants to sell it.—New York Sun.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

OLD VETERANS WANT RIGHTS

Inmates of Soldiers' Home Desire the Privilege of Voting at Option Election.

Marion, Ind., Feb. 27.—Fearing they will not be allowed to vote in the coming option election, a number of veterans of the soldiers' home are circulating petitions which will be presented to Gov. Steele.

These petitions, which are being liberally signed, ask that the veterans of the Marion home be permitted to vote in their respective units and voting places, and business men appealed to by the soldiers are adding their signatures to the lists. The petitions specifically request Gov. Steele to use his influence with the local dry organization to prevail upon the officers to allow the soldiers to vote.

The petitions and the strong efforts now being put forth by the veterans are the result of a peculiar situation which has developed in connection with the election to be held Tuesday to determine whether or not the saloons are to return to Grant county. As previously stated in the Leader, it is conceded the weakest point in the county from a temperance standpoint is the portion of Center township outside the corporation of Marion. That territory comprises a unit in itself and in it is the soldiers' home, which is considered a wet stronghold. It is freely predicted that no matter what the city may do, this unit is likely to go wet. Since there can be no saloons within one mile of the soldiers' home and Center township extends along only the east and south lines of the city, the most available place for the saloons in that territory would be immediately east of the city in the McClure field section. The soldiers' home vote is the key to the situation just now.

Several of the leading petitioners paid a visit to an attorney Saturday for the purpose of securing a legal opinion. After this opinion had been given, the attorney advised them how he thought they should vote. The veterans replied they believed each man should vote according to his own personal views. It is the plan of the men circulating the petitions to place them on file in the office of the governor before tonight. Several petitions on the down town streets Saturday were freely signed.

Kendallville, Ind., Feb. 27.—There was a large attendance at the Rebekah hall Friday evening and the guests indulged in a social time during which showers were given to Mrs. Wallace Harder and Mrs. Thurlow Berhalter. Later on in the evening a fine lunch was served and at a late hour the guests departed for their homes.

HEALTH OFFICERS UP AGAINST IT

Scarlet Fever Epidemic Proves an Enigma to the Huntington Doctors.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 27.—Scarlet fever as an epidemic is the one bi enigma before health officials of Huntington and surrounding counties. Wit a situation checked in one section of the county, an outbreak in another keeps the health officers on tension. This demonstrates the facts set out a number of months ago by County Health Commissioner C. W. Fry that this feared fever is easily carried and the infection develops where least expected.

No new cases have been reported from Bippus, but in the out part of Warren township there are a number of cases. At Markle the situaton is in good shape and around Majenica and Mt. Etna there seems to be a check. No part of the county has been entirely immune. Whitley county is having a run with a number of serious cases. Wabash, Wells, Grant and Allen gravely apprehend the scarlet fever within those precincts.

Sunday school in Rock Creek township was resumed again Sunday after a three weeks' dismissal on account of the scarlet fever. Rev. Polly will fill his appointment again next Sunday morning and evening. The Nelson Sharp and Myron Swaldner homes in Rock Creek were fumigated Wednesday. Eldon Dungan was ill with the scarlet fever in the Sharp home and three children were ill in the Swaldner home. The Will Brown home was fumigated Sunday, but is again under quarantine. The youngest child, three years old, was taken ill with a light case of scarlet fever Monday soon after the house had been fumigated.

SAWMILL BURNS.

Unknown Cause Starts $5,000 Blaze—No Insurance.

Decatur, Ind., Feb. 27.—The large saw mill of Henry Colter, located at Rivarre, was destroyed by fire at an early hour Saturday morning and today it is a mass of charred and smoking debris. It is thought by Hr. Colter to have started about 3:15 o'clock, for about 3:30 he and Mrs. Colter, who reside near the plant, were awakened from some cause or other, and noticed the plant in a mass of flames. No cause for the blaze can be given whatever, and no doubt will never be determined. The mill was valued by the owner at not less than five thousand dollars and it is a total loss. He carried no insurance, and with the damage to machinery and what lumber was destroyed, will reach the $5,000 mark. At present he is undecided as to whether he will rebuild and stated this morning that he did not believe he would. He has been the owner of the plant for a number of years and has always done a big business, and the loss means the wiping out of his business in this line at Rivarre.

SORORITY INITIATES

Three New Members Join Society—Banquet and Dance.

Columbia City, Ind., Feb. 27.—Following the initiation of Misses Ethel Welck, Norma Strouse and Hilda Grund at the home of Miss Mary Mowery, East Van Buren street, Friday night, the Tri-Kappas went to Myers hall, where a little dance and banquet were given for their three new members.

The initiatory ceremonies, which are alleged to be very impressive, started at 7 o'clock. The program at Myers hall consisted of twelve dances and the music was furnished by Ruth and Ray Harrison with piano and trap drum. After the dancing a two-course banquet was served at which Miss Margaret Coyle, president of the sorority, presided. Miss Mabel Reed responded to a toast on "Shows," Helen Jones followed with "Flashlights," and Norma Strouse, one of the new members, talked about "Before and After Taking."

STRICKEN ON BARN ROOF.

Rome City Man Never Regains Consciousness.—Dies in a Few Hours.

Kendallville, Ind., Feb. 27.—A tragic death occurred at Rome City last night. Harlow Parker, one of the best known citizens of the town, was at work Friday afternoon on the roof of a barn, when he was stricken with apoplexy and rendered unconscious. His fellow workmen lowered him to the ground with a rope, and he was taken home. He never regained consciousness, but died last night at 12:30. He was fifty-eight years of age. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Clara Ritter, of Ashley, and Mrs. Ed Cobbs, of Rome City, and a step-daughter, Addie Parker. The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock tomorrow at the M. E. church, Rome City, Rev. Mawhorter, of Cosperville, having charge.

Kendallville, Ind., Feb. 27.—Miss Louise Beichle, who has been forewoman at the Kendallville Manufacturing Co. for some time, has been transferred to the South Bend branch of this firm. Miss Beichle has proved a valuable employe and this promotion will be appreciated by her many friends, although they are sorry she is leaving the city.

BLOODHOUNDS FAILED.

Crafty Burglars Use Buggy to Throw Dogs Off the Scent.

Warsaw, Ind., Feb. 27.—A pair of bloodhounds were used at Leesburg on Friday afternoon in an effort to track down the persons guilty of robbing three stores at that place on Thursday night. It is generally believed that the robbery was a home-talent affair and it was hoped that with the aid of the dogs the guilty persons could be singled out. The dogs were brought from Indianapolis and were accompanied by their owner. The hounds did not arrive until late in the afternoon, by which time too many people had been around the places where the robbers operated and so many tracks had been made that the dogs were greatly handicapped in getting a scent. The hounds, however, took a scent and followed it to a back street in the town where they stopped. They followed another scent to another point in the street.

The owner of the dogs believes that there were three persons connected with the robbery, two having entered the stores and the third having waited on the back street in a buggy. He says the point in the street where the dogs first stopped is the place where one of the men entered the buggy after the robberies had been committed. He thinks that the two men then drove to the place where the dogs next stopped and that at that point the second man joined them. The dogs then were unable to follow the scents after the men entered the vehicle.

BEAR STORY.

Telephone Joker Starts the Scare—Scholars Timid.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 27.—Jackson township had a bear scare a few days ago. And it was so disastrous that a number of young women were much worked up and several children had to be taken part way to school by reassuring parents the next day or two. Charles Anson, teacher at district No. 8, might have had occasion to ask why their hurry as certain pupils appeared, had he been so inclined. A certain telephone subscriber was talking to another and thinking to play a joke told of a bear having escaped from a vaudeville company at Huntington and when last seen was within half a mile of the home of the person talked to. A number of girls were within hearing distance and wide-open eyes resulted. The word spread. Next morning children were afraid to go to school and several parents are understood to have had to accompany children part way. The scare has now passed and Teacher Anson's charges are back to normal.

ASKS DIVORCE.

Montpelier Man Wants to Marry Inmate of Infirmary.

Montpelier Ind., Feb. 27.—John W. Morris, of Montpelier, has field suit for divorce against his wife, Anna Morris, to whom he was married on November 2, 1905.

Morris alleges in the complaint that his wife deserted him, in February, 1908, when she ran away with another man. Since that time the complaint alleges they have not lived together and the woman has refused to live with him.

Morris is said to have attempted to get a marriage license several weeks ago to wed Bell Furnas, an inmate of the county poor farm. The Furnas woman gave birth to twins some time ago and Morris was reputed to be the children's father. It is not very likely that the Furnas woman and Morris could secure a marriage license even if Morris should secure a divorce from his wife.

GETS THREE YEARS.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 27.—Kenneth Hare, the young man arrested as he broke into a South Side residence a week ago, will be taken back to the reformatory at Plainfield Tuesday. Agent Vale, the man sent to take him from the county jail, asked whether he preferred to go to Michigan City, but the boy chose the reformatory where he can finish his moulder's trade. He will remain there until he is twenty-one or for a period of three years.

A RECORDER FOR COMPOSERS.

The modern composer, it seems, does most of his work at the piano. He works out a composition at the keyboard and then writes it out as he remembers it afterward. This is annoying for a man in the midst of an inspiration must stop and write down what he already has worked out lest he forget.

For many years various inventors have been endeavoring to perfect an automusicograph, or an instrument which would register the music as the composer plays it at his instrument. At last Don Angelo Barbieri, an Italian inventor, has perfected such a machine, so that the musician now will have the advantage of his typewriter just as the author has had for many years.

The playing of the composer is recorded on rolls of paper which revolve by clockwork in dashes of varying length and position as the value of the note or its position on the scale demands. When the composition has been played to the finish the dash system can be transcribed by means of a graduated scale and recorded exactly as it was playsd.—Chicago Tribune.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE

That chronic Bright's Disease is now being cured by treatment that reduces inflammation in the kidneys is beginning to be generally known.

We copy the following from the San Francisco Bulletin, June 22d, 1908:

"The recovery is reported of Mr. Z. Lawton, of 264 Fifth Avenue, San Francisco. The case is especially interesting due to the fact that books declare chronic Bright's Disease incurable and five city physicians had passed on and diagnosed the case. The usual symptoms found in extreme cases were reported—excessive dropsy, enlarged heart and towards the last the patient could only sleep sitting up, and for six weeks he slept in a chair. Lawton had a cousin, Mrs. W. E. Hoover of Auburn, who also had an advanced case of Bright's Disease. She had been tapped three times when she heard of Fulton's Renal Compound and made a fine recovery. This interested Lawton in the treatment and it resulted in his recovery also. * * * He is a Mason, member of Excelsior Lodge, and many members will recollect his serious predicament and that they thought they would be called on to pass him over."

Parties desiring to know more of this treatment can get full literature by addressing the John J. Fulton Company, 645 Battery St., S. F., Cal.

Fulton's Renal Compound can be had in your city of our agent D. & N. Pharmacy, 624 Calhoun St.

We desire every patient to write us who is not noting the usual improvement by the third week.

THE USUAL HURRY UP FINISH.

With but a week of the session remaining the Indiana legislature resumed work today with but twenty-four bills of the twelve hundred introduced in both branches enacted into law and signed by the governor. Of the measures still hanging fire are some of the most important of the democratic platform measures and several of the most vital recommendations of Governor Marshall. The liquor restriction bill, doubtless, will get through the house at once, but it must have concurrence by the senate in some pretty radical changes. So it falls out that legislative history is repeating itself in all essential features and the closing days of the session will be filled with the hum of tardy diligence and a prodigious scramble to get done what ought before this to have been done. And there will be the usual consequences of haste in law-making by additional burdens on the Indiana courts of appeal. It is the almost unexceptioned course of legislation in the state bodies and in congress as well. The big things wait and their chief features if not their fate depend upon compromising, bargaining and huckstering of smaller things in legislation. We believe Governor Marshall's proposal that the constitution of Indiana provide for a dual session would prove upon trial to be the essence of wisdom. Certainly it would present a clearer situation when it came down to the actual work of converting legislative bills into the law of the state. Most of the matters on the "program" will be dispatched somehow during the present week, but with a haste that is poor vouchsafement of quality in law-making.

THE OPTION VOTING.

Indiana begins voting today on the saloon issue under the new law, and during the present week many cities and towns of the state will have a new settlement and perhaps in some instances a readjustment of conditions as respects the existence of saloons. The fight is warm in many sections, but there does not appear to be as much bitterness as was a feature of some of the county option campaigns in territory embraced by some of the present contests. Anti-saloon leaders and advocates in most communities profess entire confidence in the results of the new option elections. They are insisting that nothing has developed in conditions under the "dry" regime to provoke or justify a change of sentiment and that, therefore, no change of sentiment is likely to be registered in the balloting. The saloon interests in many of the communities have no specially reassuring prospect of victory; but they have the law they have wanted and they are "taking a chance" under its provisions. Some communities may doubtless go "wet," but there is not so far as we have been able to discover up to this time any general change of sentiment in those communities from which the saloon has been banished by the county option law or even prior to the operation of that law when many Indiana cities and towns and even whole counties were "made" dry by the remonstrance process. However, the present week will witness what demand there really has existed in public sentiment for a change of the law.

THE CITY SEALER'S OFFICE.

Any time it may be discovered that the office of city sealer embraces a useless and extravagant function it can be abolished. But just now "there's a reason." There's no denying that such an office offers opportunity for graft; so do most offices whose functions are to inspect. There is no force in the contention, however, that because opportunity to graft is offered there necessarily will be graft. Quite the contrary is true and to be expected. A sealer will be worth good pay and ought to have good pay. The city council need not be in any fear to create the office and fix its compensation liberally. It will save the people many fold what is taken from them in taxes to support the office. And we do not believe, either, that the duties of the sealer should be coupled with those of the market master. Each will have an abundance to do in his own sphere. If such economy were necessary, the suggestion would have value; but there will be no public extravagance in creating the office of sealer. The people of Fort Wayne spend yearly millions of dollars for commodities that are sold by weight or measure. It is worth what it may cost to have guarantee that they are getting the quantities they pay for.

Senator Proctor declares he will have the saloon restriction bill made over his way when it returns to the senate. That means that there will not be any restriction law by this legislature. With only a week in which to finish the session's work, it hardly seems possible that a difference so radical as there is between the house and Mr. Proctor and his supporters on the saloon regulation bill can be reconciled in any way that will restore to the measure the essentially Proctor features. The young statesman from Elkhart may have a miracle or two up his sleeve and if he has he will need them to make saloon restriction bear much resemblance to the proposals which came from his hand early in the session. Except there be rapid fire work Indiana will continue to regulate the liquor business by the present laws.

With two extra sessions of congress forced by the tariff, President Taft will have a pretty record, and the latter half of it is going to look a lot better in its general results than the earlier half of it. For one thing a democratic house will be featured in the beneficent doings of a republican administration. And history hasn't kept her iron pen very busy scratching down that sort of thing.

Postponement of newer forms of local government need not in any wise mean postponement of good government, nor need it necessarily mean that the civic improvement program is not still better than a good thing. Proposed changes can only make good government perhaps easier to have; but it is possible to have it under present forms.

The Indiana legislature will have to go some in the matter of good works if it has any idea of going out in a blaze of glory to accompaniment of sighs of regret and a chorus of acclaim.

Of course the country will survive if it does have to stand for Mr. Lorimer in the senate of the United States, but—

BRITISH TORIES; LITTLE AMERICANS.

(New York American.)

Some Tory newspapers in Canada are raising a hue and cry against reciprocity—presumably because of their peculiar private interests or their temperamental repulsion for progress.

But for the lack of a better pretext they are conducting their stand-pat campaign on the theory that reciprocity is a Yankee trick to detach Canada from its British alliance and annex it to the United States.

In proof of this imaginary and imaginative plot these newspapers seize upon some sentences from an editorial in the New York American, tear them, bleeding, from their context and hold them up as proof to the parliament at Ottawa that the American people are preparing to swallow the great dominion at a gulp.

Canada will not excite itself over this bogey. Canada is too big and strong. The whole world could not absorb it—against its will. But the occasion serves to point a moral and emphasize a distinction.

The moral is that there is no hope of getting good counsel from men who speak in the Tory temper—whether in Canada, in England or the United States. And the distinction to be marked is the difference, in all countries, between the reactionaries and the progressives.

The Canadian parliament in its movement for American reciprocity will disappoint the schemes of Lord Lansdowne and Joseph Chamberlain, but it will tighten its fraternal bonds with all that is fresh and vital in English politics.

The spirit of the pending agreement between the United States and Canada is in harmony with the doctrines of liberals and progressives the world over.

It is only to those reactionaries who still live under the illusion that nations grow rich by destroying each other's wealth that reciprocity sounds the knell of personal ambition and political hope.

Lord Lansdowne's cry in the house of lords—that the British Empire must decline if Canada decides to develop its prosperity along natural continental trade lines—is the cry of a false and infatuated politics.

The English imperialists have committed the absurdity of tagging the liberals with the title of "Little Englanders." The truth is, on the contrary, that the advocates of national or racial exclusion and isolation deserve to be called "little."

Thus in the United States the partisans of monopoly and constriction who are now fighting against continental trade expansion are the Little Americans—whose Liliputian and pusillanimous policies merit the pity or contempt of all Americans with a mental horizon.

NOTHING TO DO WITH THE CASE.

(Lafayette Courier.)

"The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la, have nothing to do with the case," so quoted Senator Beveridge yesterday from the old comic opera, characterizing the Lorimer speech of the day before. The Lorimer speech was a great speech, judged as a means to becloud the issue, and to put maudlin sentimentality, of a strictly personal nature, in place of reason and patriotism, but it had nothing to do with the case of the corruption which even the Lorimer adherents admit was practiced at Springfield. Yesterday, Senator Beveridge, in concluding his speech against Lorimer, completely exposed the shallowness of Lorimer's personal defense and made the country to look at the matter once more in reason, instead of through tear-dimmed eyes and to discuss it in even tones rather than in a sob-choked voice. And, too, the fun Senator Beveridge had yesterday with that personified joke, Senator Chauncey M. Depew, was delicious, but after all it seems to us that Senator Beveridge went little nearer the true inwardness of the situation in the opening half of his speech on Wednesday.

THE DAIRY AND THE CHURCH.

(Terre Haute Star.)

Country pastors, with hardly any respect to locality, report the milk supply question a most serious drawback to their work. City people demand fresh milk seven mornings in the week, and the milk companies are putting tremendous emphasis upon cleanliness. The expense of handling milk is so great that the margin for the farmer is small, and he can afford little in the way of help. With other kinds of farming winter life afforded some time for rest but with dairying the winter is as strenuous as the summer, in some respects more strenuous. Early hours in the morning, and late hours at night. Sundays and week days, almost prohibit everything religious, it is declared, insofar as a part being taken by men. In not a few instances women are brought into the dairy work, too, and the country churches do not get even their assistances. There is no eight-hour day. Years ago this milk question affected only farmers near to the large eastern cities. With quick train service milk is now taken long distances, and western cities demand the same that eastern cities do.

FIRE HOT SHOTS IN RESOLUTIONS

Farmers of Allen County Express Some Views Emphatically.

COVER WIDE RANGE

Farmers of Allen county, assembled in institute at the court house on Saturday, just prior to adjournment, adopted by unanimous vote resolutions setting forth their views in emphatic fashion on a wide variety of topics.

The farmers declared against the Canadian reciprocity project, protested against a change in road laws and declared that the effort to create a state road commission is the scheme of "a combination of politicians, grafters and special privilege exploiters." There was also a declaration against allowing illegal liquor-selling, gambling and lewd shows on the grounds during the Fort Wayne fair and an appeal to the officers to arrest and prosecute offenders of this character.

Text of the Resolutions.

The resolutions were submitted by a committee composed of Messrs. H. B. Roller, Henry Rockhill and Marion Smith, and the full text of the report was as follows:

To the Members and the Agricultural Interests of the Allen County Farmers' Institute:

First: Be it resolved, That the officers and members of the different organizations in said county do all that is possible to advance along the line of farming and marketing the farm products, and do not forget to put your label or trademark on your goods.

Second. Be it further resolved, That we insist on the organization of "Boys'" and "Girls'" clubs. We would advise a club of this kind in each township.

Against Canadian Reciprocity.

Third. Resolved, That we earnestly protest against the Canadian reciprocity bill now before congress, for the reason that it provides for the admission free of duty of all farm products of Canada, and makes no material reduction on all manufactured articles the farmer buys. For example, this bill puts wheat, cattle, hogs and sheep on the free list, while flour is taxed 1¼ cents a pound; the latter to benefit the meat trust. We believe the farmers should receive the same protection as is given the manufacturer.

Fourth. Resolved, That we do not favor the action of congress in endeavoring to charge our magazines a higher rate of postage than other periodicals.

Against Road Law Change.

Fifth. We further object to any change being made in our present road law that will take from the people the right to elect their own road officers, or take away from the farmers the right to work out their own road tax.

Sixth. Be it further resolved, That the farmers of the different townships in said county of Allen, call meetings in their respective townships for the purpose of organizing township clubs to operate within their respective townships, and to co-operate with the county organization. With this kind of organization we can assist the industrial education of our boys and girls and work out some means of assisting the institute work of our county, and furthermore, if we decide to have some change in the county law through our representatives, we will be in shape to draft a bill, setting out our wishes. It is true that we must all get our living from our Mother Earth, and anything that will better the conditions of the agricultural interests must mean benefit to all.

Seventh. Be it further resolved, That the farmers appreciate the good work that our editors of our different county papers are doing by furnishing us with news and markets of the different cities and the work of our representatives in state and nation, and the appreciation is being shown by the patronage given. But we do object to those same editors grasping a conclusion and with their influence cause to have this theory framed into a law at the expense of their best friends, the farmers.

Favor Barge Canal.

Eighth. Be it further resolved, That the people of Allen county and also the state of Indiana do all in their power and not allow any driftwood or any other obstruction to stand in the way of one of the most glorious improvements that could come in our midst, one that will go in history for our coming generations to give us praise for and that is to do all we can to assist in the building of our barge canal from Toledo, by way to Fort Wayne and on to Chicago, and we commend our senators and congressmen and citizens of Fort Wayne and state who are so gallantly working for the same.

Notice to the farmers of Allen county: Speaking of farmers' institutes to call your attention to what we could do along this line, for an example, I wish to cite to you what a grand institution a few of our brother farmers accomplished, and that is our Allen County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company with a list of property insured and in effect at this time of over six million dollars, an organization that has saved the farmers of this county more money than it has cost to build our grand court house, and we, as a body of farmers, ought to feel grateful toward the charter members that have been entrusted with the management of this glorious institution and we should ask that every policy holder be appointed a committee of one to assist in maintaining this institution.

More on the Road Law.

Whereas, There is an effort being made by a combination of politicians, grafters and special privilege exploiters to have the road laws of Indiana changed so as to create a road commission, appointed by the governor, and

Whereas, Said road commission would take away from the people of Indiana the right to superintend their own roads and place it into the hands of a lot of appointed officials who have no interest whatever in the welfare of the people and care nothing for the roads further than to fill their own pocketbooks at the expense of the taxpayers; and

Whereas, Such appointments would most likely fall into the hands of a lot of official favorites who have no knowledge of road building whatever and who would draw their salaries for performing a service that they know nothing about; and

Whereas, The creation of a road commission is a direct attack on the democracy of the people and is only another attempt at centralization of power into the hands of a few designing grafters; and

Whereas, The present free gravel road law is the pride of the people of Indiana and is in itself an acknowledgment of what the people will do if it is left to them and as it will accomplish all that is desired for the still betterment of the public highway; and

Whereas, Further, we point with pride to the Allen County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance association and its efficient officer, William Kelsey, for handling the same to the amount of $6,000,000, and shows what farmers can accomplish in other directions.

Liquor and Gambling at Fair.

Whereas, There has been such a disregard of the law in reference to the sale of intoxicating liquors at the Fort Wayne Fair that law-abiding citizens are unwilling to have the same repeated; therefore be it

Resolved, That we earnestly implore the officials of the fair that the sale of intoxicating liquors be discontinued, and that all immoral and lewd shows and gambling devices be hereafter excluded from the fair grounds, and that the police and sheriff shall arrest and prosecute all persons violating this sentiment.

Resolved, That we express our thanks to our worthy chairman and all others who have so nobly assisted in making this our farmers' institute a success, and that we also extend our thanks to the judges of the bread and corn contests and to Mr. Plumadore for his kindness in furnishing us with a piano.

ZIONIST PROGRESS.

The Palestine and Land Development company, one of the most important of the institutions of the Zionist organization, has just issued its annual report, from which it appears that despite many difficulties progress is being made.

Notwithstanding the unfriendly attitude of the previous owners and neighbors, the Kenereth farm near the sea of Tiberias has become a center of agricultural traffic. Irrigation works have been constructed which take seventy cubic meters of water an hour from the sea of Tiberias and waters some 300 dunams of land. This work has been carried out entirely by Jewish labor.

With the help of a loan from the Jewish National fund the company has bought a plot in Galilee which is suitable for agriculture and is intended for small holdings; but owing to a delay in the settlement of the business formalities it has not yet been able to proceed with the work of division of the plot into small holdings.

With regard to the finances, the company's capital has increased during the last fiscal year by $11,120 and now stands at $50,680. This small increase is attributed by the directors to the indifference displayed by most Zionists and partly to the restricted canvassing carried on by the Berlin office during the last six months so as not to prejudice the support necessary for the co-operative settlement fund. Now that this fund has been raised Chairman Prof. Warburg hopes for a more rapid improvement in the affairs of the company.—New York Sun.

Pistachio nuts, or "green almonds," came originally from Syria. The first California crop was gathered in 1887.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

APPROVE ACTS OF OFFICIALS

John Aylesworth Bible Class Denounce One of the Vices of the Day.

PASS RESOLUTIONS

The John Aylesworth Men's Bible class of the West Jefferson street Church of Christ, which at its meeting Sunday morning numbered fifty-nine members, adopted resolutions commending the officials of the city regarding the suppression of houses of prostitution and denouncing the idea expressed by some that these places are a "necessary evil." The resolutions, signed by W. D. Calvin, as president of the class; Ray Woodhull, secretary; and Earle Marion Todd, pastor, are as follows:

Whereas, For some time past it has been the policy of our city and county governments to permit houses of prostitution to flourish unmolested and under the protection of the police, in certain sections of the city, and

Whereas, There has been for some months past a growing opposition to that policy on the part of the decent element in the community, and

Whereas, That opposition has found emphatic expression through the editorial columns of our city press, and

Whereas, Acting on indictments brought by the recent grand jury, decisions have been rendered which, if carried into execution, will result in an abatement of the evil, and

Whereas, The city administration has taken prompt steps to enforce the order of the court; therefore, be it

Resolved, By this meeting of the members of the John Aylesworth Men's Bible class, whose motto is "The Kingdom With Might and Main," that we welcome these tokens of an awakened civic conscience; that we deplore and denounce as unworthy the citizens of a christian nation the suggestion that prostitution is a "necessary evil," to be tolerated in defiance of the law; that we express our abhorrence of the conduct of those citizens who, making a claim to decency themselves, should yet profit financially by the business through rentals or otherwise; be it furthermore

Resolved, That we heartily commend the editors of our city papers for the stand they have taken against lawlessness and in favor of decency, and those executive officers who have moved in the matter, for their determination—tardy, though it is, yet most welcome—to rid our city of this foul blot and wipe out this plague spot from our midst; be it furthermore

Resolved, That we commend the prompt and energetic action of our new chief of police, Dayton Abbott, in closing the houses of prostitution on North Calhoun street, and the houses of assignation throughout the city.

Resolved, Finally, that we express our sense of shame that our abstention and the abstention of other christian men from civic affairs, through a too deep engrossment in selfish pursuits, has made possible the bad conditions referred to; and that we hereby record our determination, as christian men, to take a more active and intelligent interest in civic affairs, and to encourage others to do the same.

HOME A STRONG FACTOR

In the Building of City Beautiful, Says Pastor.

The last of the series of sermons on "The City Beautiful," which Rev. J. F. Vichert, the pastor, has been delivering at the First Baptist church, was given Sunday evening, his theme being, "Building the City Beautiful." His main thought was that the building of a city beautiful in regard to purity and righteousness must come from the home and the church and the hearts of upright people. In part he said:

"Man can build the externals of a city. He can keep together stone and brick; he can lay out streets; he can plant parks and gardens. Thus can he make the city fair and inviting in appearance. But these things lie upon the surface only, and are never the source of true and enduring beauty.

"The work of building the city beautiful must begin with the children in the home. Our boys and girls of today will be our citizens tomorrow, and the kind of training we give them now will very largely determine the quality of life which will characterize the city of the future.

"I am not unmindful of the exalted mission of the church, nor would I minimize the importance of the school, but these can achieve their most beneficent results only when supported by the home, and when that is lacking the best endeavors of church and school are rendered fruitless.

"Holy influences, divine potencies coming down, always coming, and as they have their way and do their work in church, in home, in school, in your heart and mine, there will rise before our very eyes a city glorious and beautiful."

TIMES IN POLKVILLE.

Tavern Keeper Doles Out the News as He Sees It.

"NAW! Town's slower than snails. There ain't been anything going on since you was here last," grumped the landlord of the tavern at Polkville, Ark., in answer to the inquiry of the patent churn man who visited the hamlet sufficiently often to be mildly interested in the happenings there—"that is, anything worth mentioning. And if there had been I wouldn't have known anything about it. The way my rheumatism has been pestering me of late I haven't had any inclination to pay attention to much else. It—aw, well, I've noticed how a feller with the rheumatism is everlastingly boring other people with his aches—always grabbing anybody that will listen. Folks have troubles enough of their own without bothering with other people's complaints. Still, I s'pose, in a case like mine, which is a good deal different from—

"Aw, yes, the news! Nope; nothing of consequence. Come to think, though, some feller—I forgit his name—was horsewhipped in front of the post-office a spell ago by a charming young grass widder lady for something or nuther he'd said or she said he'd said or she said somebody said he'd said or something that a-way, but ladies are always churned up in their minds about what's been said, and for that matter the most of 'em would be horsewhipping men the biggest part of the time if they had their way. I've been married on three different occasions myself.

"Well, that's about all. To be sure, a couple of ladies enjoyed a free for all fight over a no 'count man at a dance the other night, and there's been an elopement or two and a scandal that wasn't worth listening to, and there was some talk about a lynching, but I didn't learn whether it happened or not. You see, when a person is all drawed up with rheumatism like I am he don't take much interest in what is happening—just so's it don't happen to him. He's putting in his time trying to get relief. Beats all, too, the things some people will try in attempting to secure a little ease. But I never was that a-way myself. I just stick to the doctors—'pears like trying 'em one after another is the best plan, for every time you get a new one he seems to help you for a little while, and then try the next one, and so on. Of course I take a bottle or two of patent medicine now and then—it might do some good—and always carry a buckeye in my pocket and keep a red string tied around each ankle and around my wrists, but outside of that and a few things out of the Old Family Doctor Book I don't fool with much of anything. No, there ain't any news."—Tom P. Morgan in Puck.

SOCIETY

A card party of unusual beauty of arrangement was given this afternoon by Misses Bertha and Helen Peters, at their home in West Wayne street. The color plan was yellow and white and gold scroll baskets were filled with jonquils and formed the color tone of the decorations. Pots of white azallas and cyclamens in full bloom stood in the rooms where a game of bridge was the amusement. The card tables displayed the colors of white and yellow in white playing cards embossed with the initial "P" in gold and in pencils wound in yellow ribbon. The playing cards were wrapped in white tissue paper and tied with yellow, and unusual table and individual tally cards were decorated with bows of yellow ribbon. At the elegant supper there were placed on the tables brown Japanese baskets filled with nuts and bows of yellow tulle were tied to the handles. Bouquets of flowers were prizes for the game and the two hostesses wore beautiful corsage bouquets of spring flowers. The decorations other than blossoming plants about the parlors were confined to the refreshment table, where two straw baskets of pastel coloring and shaped like clover leaves, were filled with flowers. On one basket w[illegible] pink Killarney roses and forget-me-nots and in the other were jonquils with white and yellow petals and Marguerites. The effect was a suggestion of French millinery from the Flick store and they elicited much admiration for their unique beauty.

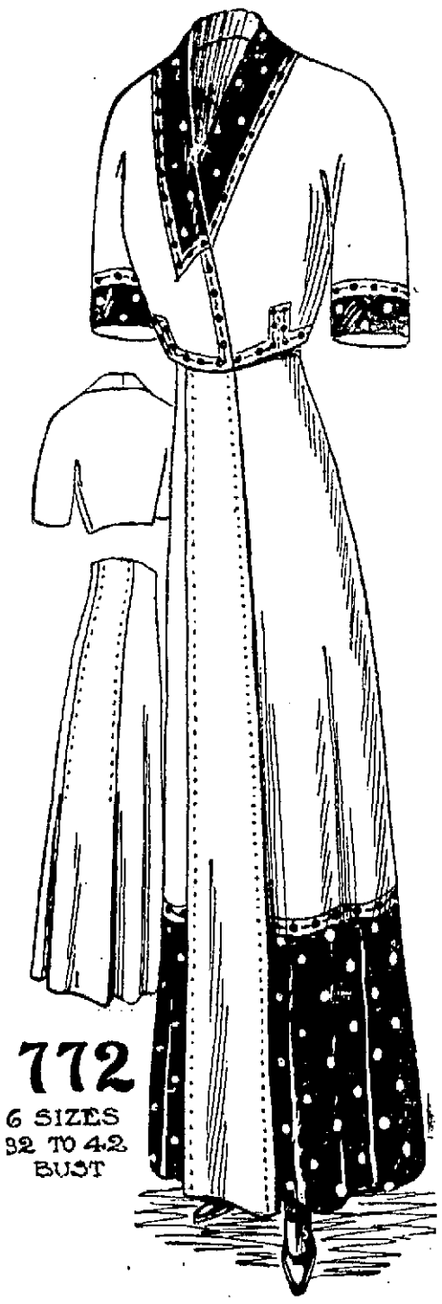
ETON JACKETS ARE SMART.

By MRS. JANE FORD.



Every season before buying new clothes the wise woman will look over her wardrobe and see what she has on hand that can be remodelled. The trotting suit should be considered first, and this spring we see smart little Eton jackets used in combination with either the high or normal waisted skirts. Coats have been growing shorter for the past year, and there are few who regret this change, because the abbreviated lines gives one a more youthful figure than those that reach almost to our heels. Besides, it is much easier to make over a suit where the coat is to be shortened than where it is to be made longer.

If new goods is used for the costume, for the average person five and one-eighth yards thirty-six inches wide is required or four and one-eighth yards forty-four inches wide. When goods of a contrasting weave is employed as a trimming two and seven-eighths yards twenty-four inches wide will be needed.

This style suit will be exceedingly pretty carried out in light weight serge, linen or pongee. Satin in a color that matches the material will make a modish and very effective trimming for a serge suit. Pongee will be pretty trimmed with broad soutache braid, or with heavy Turkish crochet lace dyed to match the goods. This lace is very popular this season and is quite inexpensive. Should linen be selected for the suit, it will be pretty made of the one material and embroidered with heavy mercerized cotton in one of the fashionable Egyption designs.

White galatea is much used this season for coat suits. It makes up quite as effectively as the heavy linens, and is much less expensive. This material was used for developing the model pictured, and a dark blue and white polka dot of the same weave was employed as a trimming, with white wash braid for a finish.

These little coats are so very simple and easy to make that even the most inexperienced sewer will not require the assistance of a dressmaker in developing them. Therefore, the girl who is willing to give a little time to the work can have at a small cost several such suits for warm weather wear.

THE CARE OF THE HANDS

There is no excuse for women having red hands because, even in the coldest weather, carefful attention will keep them white, or restore them, if they have become red.

First and foremost it is essential that the skin shall be wiped dry each time after washing. Undoubtedly most women think they do this, but in fact few do. If the least moisture remains over the knuckles or between the fingers redness and a coarsening of the skin is inevitable, and all dampness is only absorbed when the hands are wiped with a soft, absorbent towel. Incidentally, pushing the cuticle down at the base of the nails each time the hands are washed will do much toward improving their shape.

For Red Hands.

If there is tendency to redness of the hands a soothing lotion should be applied always after wetting. Anything containing grease has virtue for this purpose, but nothing surpasses glycerine and rosewater, using one-third of the former to two-thirds of the latter. Ten drops of carbolic acid to half a pint of the mixture improves it. The hands must be wiped after using it.

At night more healing ungents should be employed and, without exception large kid gloves should be drawn on. The covering not only protects the bed covering from grease, but kid acts upon the skin as a softener and aids in driving the grease into the pores.

There should be a thin mixture made from sweet almond oil and linseed meal. It should be made the consistency of gruel and is slightly warmed, but not made hot. In this the hands are soaked for ten minutes, first carefully washing and drying them. On being taken from the oil bath gloves are drawn on without removing any of the "gruel" save that which drips off of its own accord.

A Cocoa Butter Cream.

One objecting to the feel of this will find excellent a cream made from one-half ounce of cocoa butter and sweet almond oil, one-half dram each of oxide of zinc ointment and borax, and three drops of oil or bergamot. The cocoa butter and oil are mingled by putting into a china cup set in hot water. The ingredients are beaten together as they cool and the borax and ointment blended at the same time, the bergamot going in last. This is used as any cold cream.

Hands will always chap in cold weather if only woolen gloves are worn when out of doors. Although thick gloves are warm, they are so porous as to admit of air, and smooth skin is impossible. A woman who does not wish to carry a muff may solve the problem by wearing kid or leather gloves under woolen ones.

MARGARET MIXTER.

TABLETS FOR THE BON BON BOX.

Making perfumed tablets to carry in a bon bon box is a pretty piece of work for a rainy afternoon at home and one in which a couple of girl friends may be asked to aid.

The basis of the majority of these hard pastes, for such the tablets are, is gum arabic, and in buying the best quality must be asked for. Before using it should be dropped for a moment in clear cold water, to wash and remove any foreign particles which then may readily be detected.

Charcoal tablets are supposed to have a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs, and certainly are pleasant to taste. They may be made from one ounce each of willow charcoal and saccharine, three ounces of unsweetened chocolate, and one-half a drachm of vanilla. All the ingredients must be powdered.

The Recipe for Tablets.

One ounce of gum arabic is softened in as little water as can be, a tablespoonful sometimes being sufficient. It will not dissolve. When soft, the powders, which previously have been mixed, are worked into it slowly with a silver fork. When finished it should be a smooth paste. It is rolled out on a piece of marble and tiny squares cut with a silver knife. They are not lifted, but the mass is covered with a cloth and left for a day to dry thoroughly.

More elaborate and delicious is another kind made from three-quarters of an ounce of gum acacia, one and three-eighths ounces of catechu, 180 grains each of cascarilla, mastic and orris root. These are to be in powder form.

Licorice Drops.

To them is added ten ounces of licorice juice, cold, and the mixture is slowly brought to a boil, stirring that it shall be smooth. It is stirred also while cooling. There should be ready to add to this thirty-seven grains of oil of cloves, one-quarter of an ounce of oil of peppermint, and thirty-seven grains each of tincture of musk and essence of rose.

The perfumes are not to be added until the mass begins to thicken, or the heat will take out their scent.

As soon as the paste can be rolled, it should be treated as directed for the previous formula.

Some girls carry in their bon bon boxes tiny bits of orris root in stick, occasionally nibbling a piece.

It is harmless and pleasant.

TO RENEW CREPE.

Stretch the crepe over a bowl of boiling water, holding it smooth, but not tightly, and moving it about as the steam thoroughly penetrates it. Fold while still damp in the original creases and place under a heavy board to dry. This will make the crepe look almost as well as new, and is a way which I have tried often, and always with successful results.

TEA TABLE TIPS.

"I've just had a letter from my cousin, Florence, who is in England," said Virginia Carter the other day to the group of girls gathered about the tea table in a Madison avenue drawing room, "and she wrote me about a homey informal afternoon tea that she had been to at the vicarage. It was awfully jolly, she said, though she was a little in awe at first of the canon himself, who is a very dignified man and rather on his guard against American frivolities. It was served, she said, in the drawing room.

"The tea service was at one end of the long table, where the canon's sister, a dear, motherly lady, sat. Near her in a deep chair, drawn not quite to the table, was Mr. Ashford himself, the others grouping themselves quite informally about him. In the center of the table was a vase of lovely roses from the hothouse.

An English Tea Party

"On one side was the bread board, a heavy loaf, a bread knife and a bread fork like a fish fork, with which the slices of bread when cut were handed about, as no maid waited. There was a plate of hot buttered scones and one to match of small cakes. A jar of plum jam stood between. On the other end were two high plates with parts of loaf cakes. There was lots of happy talk, in which the canon and his sister led, and the whole affair was such a pretty home picture to remember.

"I was so delighted with the scones," wrote Florence, "that I asked the eldest daughter to get the cook to give me the recipe, which she did. I turn it over to you girls as my contribution to the general fund of tea table tips.

Scotch Cones.

"Make a soft dough, just stiff enough to roll out, using two cupfuls of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls butter, the same amount of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and four cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls baking powder. Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder together, rub in the butter cold, add the beaten eggs and milk and mix into a smooth dough as soft as can be handled. Flour the moulding board, turn the dough on it, give it one or two quick kneads to complete its mixing, roll out with the rolling pin to one-third inch in thickness and cut out with a sharp knife into squares a size larger than soda crackers. Fold each in half, to form triangles, and bake on a hot griddle about eight or ten minutes until a light brown on either side, then butter and serve with afternoon tea."

Giblet and Vegetable Stew.

When cleaning a chicken split and wash the heart also the liver and fleshy ends pared from the gizzard. Put all on in a pint of cold water, heat and simmer for half an hour then set aside. When ready to use cut the meat into tiny dice; brown two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion in one large tablespoonful of butter, add one tablespoonful of flour and when brown stir in the liquid in which the giblets were cooked. Season well with salt and pepper, add the cut meat and a cupful of diced cooked vegetables—carrots and turnips and a little raw celery are best. Simmer slowly for thirty minutes and serve garnished with cresses.

Potato Pancakes.

Pare and wash six raw potatoes, separate the whites and yolks of two eggs and whip the whites to a stiff froth. Grate the potatoes into a bowl and quickly add to them the beaten yolks, a half teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of fine sifted bread crumbs. Beat this gradually into the whites and saute by spoonfuls in smoking hot fat.

The Adventures of Mr. Peter Ruff

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

The Perfidy of Miss Brown

COPYRIGHT, 1909, BY THE PEARSON PUBLISHING CO.

"No sign of it, sir," the man answered. "I saw him pass through the hall yesterday afternoon, as I went off duty, and he was in riding clothes all splashed with mud. I think he has been hunting every day."

John Dory muttered something between his lips, and turned on his heel.

"How many men have you here, Saunders?" he asked.

"Only two, sir, beside myself," the man replied.

The detective went round the boarded windows, examining the work carefully until he reached the door.

"I am going to see if I can have a word with his lordship," he said.

He caught Lord Clenarvon in the act of mounting his horse in the great courtyard.

"What is it, Mr. Dory?" the Earl asked, stooping down.

"There is one name, your lordship, amongst your list of guests, concerning whom I wish to have a word with you," the detective said—"the name of Mr. Peter Ruff."

"Don't know anything about him," Lord Clenarvon answered, cheerfully. "You must see my daughter, Lady Mary. It was she who sent him his invitation. Seems a decent little fellow, and rides as well as the best. You'll find Lady Mary about somewhere, if you'd like to ask her."

Lord Clenarvon hurried off, with a little farewell wave of his crop, and John Dory returned to the house to make inquiries respecting Lady Mary. In a very few minutes he was shown into her presence. She smiled at him cheerfully.

"Another detective!" she exclaimed. "I am sure I ought to feel quite safe now. What can I do for you, Mr. Dory?"

"I have had a list of the guests sent to me," John Dory answered, "in which I notice the name of Mr. Peter Ruff."

Lady Mary nodded.

"Well?" she asked.

"I have just spoken to his lordship," the detective continued, "and he referred me to you."

"Do you want to know all about Mr. Ruff?" Lady Mary asked smiling.

"If your ladyship will pardon my saying so," John Dory answered, "I think that neither you nor anyone else could tell me that. What I wished to say was that I understood that we at Scotland Yard were placed in charge of your jewels until after the wedding. Mr. Peter Ruff is, as you may be aware, a private detective himself."

"I understand perfectly," Lady Mary said. "I can assure you, Mr. Dory, that Mr. Ruff is here entirely as a personal and very valued friend of my own. On two occasions, he has rendered very signal service to my family—services which I am quite unable to requite."

John Dory bowed.

"In that case, your ladyship," he said, "there is nothing more to be said. I conceive it, however, to be my duty to tell you that in our opinion—the opinion of Scotland Yard—there are things about the career of Mr. Peter Ruff which need explanation. He is a person whom we seldom let altogether out of our sight."

Lady Mary laughed frankly.

"My dear Mr. Dory," she said, "this is one of the cases, then, in which I can assure you that I know more than Scotland Yard. There is no person in the world in whom I have more confidence, and with more reason, than Mr. Peter Ruff."

John Dory bowed.

"I thank your ladyship," he said. "I trust that your confidence will never be misplaced. May I ask one more question?"

"Certainly," Lady Mary replied, "so long as you make no insinuations whatever against my friend."

"I should be very sorry to do so," John Dory declared. "I simply wish to know whether Mr. Ruff has any instructions from you with reference to the care of your jewels?"

"Certainly not," Lady Mary replied, decidedly. "Mr. Ruff is here entirely as my guest. He has been in the room with the rest of us, to look at them, and it was he, by-the-by, who discovered a much more satisfactory way of boarding the windows. Anything else, Mr. Dory?"

"I thank your ladyship, nothing!" the detective answered. "With your permission, I propose to remain here until after the ceremony."

"Just as you like, of course," Lady Mary said. "I hope you will be comfortable."

John Dory bowed, and returned to confer with his sergeant. Afterwards, finding the morning still fine, he took his hat and went for a walk in the park.

* * * * * * *

As a matter of fact, this, in some respects the most remarkable of the adventures which had ever befallen Mr. Peter Ruff, came to him by accident. Lady Mary had read the announcement of his marriage in the paper, had driven at once to his office with a magnificent present, and insisted upon his coming with his wife to the party which was assembling at Clenarvon Court in honor of her own approaching wedding. Peter Ruff had taken few holidays of late years, and for several days had thoroughly enjoyed himself. The matter of the Clenarvon jewels he considered, perhaps, with a slight professional interest; but so far as he could see, the precautions for guarding them were so adequate that the subject did not remain in his memory. He had, however, a very distinct and disagreeable shock when, on the night of John Dory's appearance, he recognized, among a few newly-arrived guests the Marquis de Sogrange. He took the opportunity, as soon as possible, of withdrawing his wife from a little circle among whom they had been talking, to a more retired corner of the room. She saw at once that something had happened to disturb him.

"Violet," he said, "don't look behind now——"

TRICKS OF THE JACKRABBIT.

Also the Blunders that Enable Hounds and Foxes to Catch Him.

(New York Sun.)

"The fox is no match for the jackrabbit in speed," said a hunter who has taken note of that sprightly creature's ways. "I don't mean the big, still legged rabbit of the far western plains, but the northern or Canada hare, which was introduced to the thickets and brush lots of southern New York a few years ago.

"Fleet as the red fox is on his velvet feet, this same jackrabbit could give him half a mile start in a two-mile race and win in a canter. Yet if the dogs could be started after a fox and a jackrabbit at the same time over the same course the rabbit would be caught while the fox would still be in a good lead of the pack.

"That's because the fox has the longest head of the two. He knows a thing or two that the rabbit hasn't been able to get into that rattle brain of his yet and never will be able to.

"The trouble with the jackrabbit is that he is long on timidity and short on tact. In a race of that kind he would start away at the top of his speed and at the sound of the dogs and keep up the gait as long as he heard the dogs behind him. The fox is crafty and would make no such a blunder as that.

"He would take things easy until the hounds pressed him too close. Then he would put on more steam, and decrease or increase the pressure as circumstances required. A chase that would exhaust the jackrabbit would find the canny red fox well in the lead and comparatively fresh.

"But the jackrabbit drops into many cute and cunning tricks when you are on his trail with the dogs. He will make for rising ground if he can and will avoid soft ground, if you will take notice, you will see that the rabbit can run up hill faster than he can go down. The reason for that is easy to see. If he put the force in his long hind legs going down hill that he needs for full speed, the leverage would jack him up behind so far that he would be tumbled heels over head, like a clown tumbling somersaults in a circus, and the dogs would be on him before he reached the bottom. Therefore, knowing that the dogs can go down hill at full speed, the jackrabbit has cunning enough to shy off a downhill course and keep to the uphill route if he can. And the steeper the run up hill is the better he likes it.

"His reason for avoiding soft or wet ground shows him to be quite capable in some respects if he is a little incompetent in others. His feet are covered with thick stockings of fur, and these stick to the yielding soil or moist surface, and of course delay his flight, while he has observed that the pursuing dogs have no difficulty in getting swiftly over that sort of ground; so he gives it as wide range as he can.

"The space a jackrabbit can cover in his leaps is astounding. His nest is in some clump of the tall wild grass always found in his bailiwick, or among sheltering bunches of flexible weeds, or beneath some protecting bush. When pressed by pursuers, and he concludes to play one trick of his to increase the chances of his escaping from them, he puts on steam and heads in the direction of his nest, stopping opposite it at a distance from it the greatest he can cover at a leap, and I have known such a leap to measure fifteen feet and more.

"The jackrabbit has other strategic tricks that serve him well on occasion. He will run in pastures among sheep, jump on the top of stone walls and follow them long distances, matching in this the cunning of the coon, and will even force a fresh rabbit to go on with the race, following the new starter a few rods and then leaping aside to the shelter of some bush or brush pile while the dogs keep on after the fresh rabbit. But as a rule the shallow patedness of the jackrabbit will predominate and he will persist in doubling again and again over the same course, which is sure to end in his undoing.

"The jackrabbit cannot only hear sound a great way off, but can hear in one direction with one ear while the other is listening for indications of danger in another direction. It is not uncommon to see one of these long-eared chaps standing erect on his hind legs, with one ear turned well back over his shoulder and the other pushed forward toward his nose. He is listening in both directions, and if presently he goes scooting off across country with those amazing leaps of his you can make up your mind that he has heard danger approaching from one quarter or the other, or perhaps from both, and is taking the way that to him seems best to get away from it. If the jackrabbit was as wise as he is swift and alert he would need fear neither fox nor hound."

LEIST SAYS THE TEAM WILL QUIT

Hof Brau Captain Nettled at Action of Brunswick Board.

HEIDELBERGS IN BAD

"Gentlemen, if you throw out the series we bowled with the Hattersleys it means that you will throw the Hof Brau team out of the Brunswick league. I acted in good faith and didn't want to take any advantage of the Hattersleys and I think the games ought to count just as they are."

This announcement was made at the meeting of the directors of Brunswick league No. 1 at the alleys yesterday afternoon, but was evidently not taken seriously or was accepted with indifference to the future of the club as there were nine votes in favor of throwing out the series to one for counting it.

The dispute came up over a series booked for the week immediately preceding the St. Louis tournament. Mr. Leist explained that heretofore an open week has been allowed for the A. B. C., but this was not done this year, and three or four days of the ten-day limit in which to bowl postponed games were consumed in making the trip to the big meet.

An agreement to bowl within the time was made afterward, but for some reason the Hof Braus did not show up and the Hattersleys bowled their games. Mr. Leist insisted that he consulted the president of the league and that he was given to understand that under the circumstances no penalty would be imposed upon his club for the technical violation of the rules of the organization.

Directors insisted, however, that there had been a violation and a motion that the games be not counted in the championship series was carried through. The fact that the Hattersleys bowled their series within the limit was of no advantage to the team. This club was penalized just the same as if it had violated a rule although it was admitted that it had saved a forfeit by bowling within the prescribed ten days.

Mr. Leist was able to show that he had acted in good faith and that he had consulted Ora Tonkel, captain of the Hattersleys and explained the conditions to him. Mr. Tonkel admitted this and the Hof Brau captain was much peeved. It is not likely his team will withdraw, however, as it still has a chance for first place. In the series with the Hattersleys, rejected at the meeting, the team won two and lost one game. The teams did not bowl at the same time, which is a violation of the rules, but Mr. Leist insisted that with no open week for the tournament and the good faith he had displayed ought to entitle his team to a little leniency.

Chester Schiefer, who was present to represent the Heidelbergs in the absence of H. G. Tuttle, questioned the eligibility of the Walkovers, which won a game during the week. No names were certified to the secretary, but Henry Pranger, the alley manager, said they had been handed into him and recorded, and that in his opinion the club is eligible. This was not submitted to a vote. Schiefer did not press the matter in absence of the captain, but announced that he would call it up again as he believes the Heidelbergs were put in bad.

Henry Pranger was elected secretary and the selection is a good one as he is on the job all the time, is perfectly competent and very painstaking. He has kept a complete record of the bowling all season and is in a position to handle the work very intelligently. The resignation of the former secretary, which had been in the hands of President George H. Stang for three or four weeks, was accepted.

CLUB HAS A CELEBRATION.

About 200 members of the St. Joe Athletic club held a banquet and social session yesterday at the club house. All of the arrangements for the affair were elaborate and provided a most entertaining program for those who attended. The entertainment committee was composed of William Moeller, Perry Stahl, Jos Noll, Charles Gusching and Eugene Doerfel.

ROBERTSON ORDERED TO REPORT.

Manager Jimmy Burke has sent word out to Willie Robertson that he wants him among those present one week from today when the pitchers and catchers will report at Mount Washington, near Indianapolis.

QUIT COLLEGE BALL TEAM

"TOOTS" SCHULTZ.

This young pitcher wanted to play the early spring games with the University of Pennsylvania baseball team and was in line to do it until it became known that he had signed a professional contract and agreed to join the Highlanders as soon as school is out. This was regarded as a bar to college ball and he was deemed ineligible.

COFFEY OUT FOR SEASON OF 1911

First Official Notice of His Retirement from Baseball.

CONTRACTS FOR YEAR

Although Eddie Coffey had announced to his friends that he would quit baseball and devote his attention to an oasis in which he took a half interest during the winter months, he had not told Claude H. Varnell so until a few days ago when he returned his contract and said he had decided to give his attention to his business interests and would not play ball.

On the surface this looks like Mr. Varnell must pocket a loss and depend upon patronage this season to reimburse him for the outlay in adding Coffey to his outfield candidates. Just how much was paid to Bert Annis for Coffey has not been made known, but outfielders of his caliber are worth from $500 to $500 in the open market as Central league prices go.

A year ago Mr. Varnell endeavored to get hold of Coffey and at that time there was some talk of making him manager but there was no chance and Burke was obtained. Coffey and Annis did not get along with that harmony that ought to exist between owner and player and when an offer for him was made this winter it was accepted. Unless the sale was made with the understanding that it would not be binding in event Coffey quit the game Mr. Varnell has gotten the worst of it.

The "Turk," as Coffey is known, would probably have played good ball for the Fort Wayne owner. He expressed no dissatisfaction with the terms and his retirement and refusal to sign is based entirely on his expressed determination to stick around and watch his private business grow.

Bill Bailey has signed his contract and there is a rumor that he has been bought by the Wheeling club. Mr. Varnell has not given this out as an official announcement, although it is known that Bailey has been on the market for some time. The reason for this is that the club cannot afford to carry two men to whom as high salaries as will be demanded by Onslow and Bailey must be paid. The second catcher will have to be a cheaper man than either of these. Bill is wintering in his home at McDonald, Pa., and wrote Mr. Varnell that the members of his family had been very ill.

Mr. Varnell has been advised that Providence has been ordered to send a duplicate check for the draft money due for McDermott and to stop payment on the original. On the surface this looks like Secretary John H. Farrell has decided that the little red head belongs to the Eastern league team.

Just what further action Mr. Varnell will take is problematical. He paid $800 for McDermott when he bought him from Newark of the Eastern league, and expected that he would develop and become valuable to him. He was overlooked in the drafts the first year as Providence is apparently the only club that wanted him after his showing of last season.

While Mr. Varnell will retain him if any irregularities can be shown he will part with him willingly if the draft is regular. He does not want to stand in the way of the advancement of his player no matter how badly he may need his services.

The owner of the local club is at West Baden where he will remain for some time. Dr. Carson, president of the league, and Manager James Casey, D. D. S., are with him as are Louis Gundling and Will Scott, two of his Wheeling friends.

WILL PLAY SPRING SERIES.

Shamrocks and Pennsylvania Teams to Have Another Round.

Manager Mart Cleary and Manager Al Ringle of the Shamrocks and Pennsylvanias, respectively, have determined upon an early series of games between the two clubs and the first round of the bout will be staged here on Sunday, April 30. Games will follow on May 21 and May 28, and unless one club walks away with all three engagements and the question of which is the best club is settled in three battles, as many more as are necessary for one to take three out of five will be carded.

The Pennsylvanias won the series last fall and made a bid for the attention of the Shamrocks this year and the dates were given the shop club as a recognition of the good ball the aggregation put up in the former contests.

DON'T KNOW BASEBALL.

Mrs. Bobbie Wallace, the wife of the new manager of the St. Louis Browns, says she doesn't know a thing about baseball and doesn't believe in women pretending they do when they don't. She says she couldn't tell what Bob's batting average was for last year and hadn't even thought of it. Baseball is out of her line altogether. But there is one thing she does know, and that is the fact that the Browns are going to make a trip to Hot Springs pretty soon and that Wallace is going to take her along.

Frank Morak is a Belgian aviator who has been giving exhibitions in and around New York. His most recent effort almost resulted disastrously. In an effort to cross the Hudson river from New Jersey to New York his machine plunged into the water and he had a narrow escape from death.

By taking two out of three games from the Hof Brau team the Centlivres are now in undisputed possession of first place in the Brunswick First league.

The Hof Braus had a series thrown out in which they won two and lost one, but with this counted the Centlivres would be one game to the good and there is no chance to dispute their title. The three games that decided the leadership were bowled Saturday night and some classy work was done.

Although Eddie Harkenrider had a slump in his games of last week he is still the leader in the individual averages with Frank Farnin in second place. There is little change in the positions of the bowlers and the averages are as follows:

Split Ball Beat Boston in Game Against the Champions

"We were playing the Athletics," says Jake Stahl, "and Danny Murphy was at bat, with Ray Collins pitching. It was along late in the game, and for a wonder we had them beaten, although during the last season we seemed to be the easiest club in the country for them, not even barring the Cubs.

"The thing that happened just goes to show how a club that is playing in ill luck has all the luck. We had a couple of runs the lead, the game was near the end and they had two men on bases with two out and two strikes on Murphy, who is a crack hitter toward right field if he bets a good grip on the ball. He took a swing at his third strike and hit the ball a terrible crack. I think I have seldom seen a ball hit harder than that one was. It came down the first base line so far foul that I thought it would go three feet or more outside the base and about ten feet high. I made a wild running jump at the ball, shoved up my mitt, hoping to stab the ball as it went past.

"You may imagine my surprise when the ball darted down and, inshooting at least twelve feet, grazed my right knee and went to right field on fair ground. And when the ball hit the ground it struck, twisted outward toward the foul line, rolled perhaps thirty feet and stopped. Two runs scored later, beating us out of the game. The odd part of it was that when I ran back and picked up the ball it was split almost in halves, and had to be thrown out of play. We examined the ball afterwards. It seems that the rubber which surrounds the cork core had been vulcanized, and Murphy hit it so hard that the rubber actually exploded, tore the yarn, the cord and the leather from the center out, and the air, catching the ball, made it dart into fair ground, and beat us out of the ball game.

TAUGHT THEM CONTROL.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 27.—"Fred Jacklitsch could have been as good as any catcher in the National league," said Manager Charles Dooin, of the Phillies, this morning. "He could bat and his whip was as pliant on a cold September day as it was in torrid July; he was steel-armed and could put a ball in a hat at second base. Jacklitsch was always tired, that was his only fault. He will play big ball back in the minors and I am thinking that we will see him in the league again; but a changed fellow. He would never improve with us, for I gave him every chance.

"The most notable thing Jacklitsch ever did with the Phillies was to warm up pitchers while sitting on a chair. Billy Murray one day saw him calmly seated with Moran and Brown flinging to him.

"'What is this,' yelled Murray, 'a rest cure you are taking?'

"'No,' sleepily replied Jacklitsch, 'when I sit down on a chair the pitchers know that I will not chase any balls they throw wild and it teaches them accuracy.'

"Murray was so mad he could not frame a reply. Fighting for a job in the slower set may awaken Jacklitsch and if it does he will be brought up. How 'Muggsy' McGraw would shatter his dreams of an indolent life and easy existence."

SHEAN BECOMES A CUB

SHEAN OF BOSTON

David Shean, the young player who did second base duties for the Boston club the greater part of last season, is to be a member of the Cubs. Manager Chance executed a quick trade yesterday, giving Ingerton, an infield recruit, and Pfeffer, the pitcher, for the Boston man. He is expected to join the squad at West Baden early in the week, while the other two will leave at once for the training camp of the Hub town club.

Shean is an infielder of sufficient experience to jump into a regular job with the Cubs should he be needed and his addition indicates that Manager Chance is none too sure of his veterans and proposes to be prepared to supply a new wheel to the machine any time one of the old standbys breaks down.

"Shean can play any place on the infield," said Chance. "He is a good second baseman, has played at both third and short, and supplied at first base a part of the time. No, it doesn't mean he's to take Steinfeldt's place. 'Steiny' will be on the job if he's all right, but Shean will be ready to take anybody's place that needs help."

A peculiar thing in the trade of Pfeffer is that it's the second time Chance has traded him to Boston. He was with the Cubs a few years ago and turned over to the bean team. Later Boston sent him back to the minor league and again Chance procured him for the Cubs. Now he has traded him to Boston again.

Pickups From the Sport World

Jimmy Burke, who has been training at Hot Springs, is to report at Indianapolis Wednesday of this week and stay on the job until the season is over.

Outfielder Jack Kelly, who will hold down the left garden position for Newark again the coming season, is the only member of the 1908 club who will be on McGinnity's payroll next summer.

Ben Houser, the first-sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics, has signed his contract to play with the world's champs for another season. Mack refused an offer from Memphis for Houser. Memphis also tried to get Jack Flynn.

Bill Armour expects to land Elmer Flick for his Toledo outfield. Flick was sold to Kansas City by Cleveland, but refuses to go there. Armour says Flick will play in Toledo.

Case, an amateur from Columbus, O., who declares himself to be as mute as "Dummy" Kihm, has written Montgomery for a job on the Wheeling club. He is an infielder, and declares himself to be a rare slugger.

Cleveland fans rate Gus Fisher, former Zanesville catcher, the equal of Larry McLean, the Cincinnati backstop. He batted fourth in the Portland lineup last season and was called the best catcher in the Pacific Coast league.

Connie Mack of the Athletics, has arranged May 31 as the date for the celebration of "Davis day" at Shibe park in honor of Captain Harry Davis, who piloted the Athletics to victory in the world's championship series.

Nearly all of the club owners in the National league seem interested in the strengthening of the Boston Doves but none of them care to help the new owners out by turning over any good players to them.

The Highlanders' new baseball park will seat 50,000, and the patrons are to have every convenience in the grand stand they get at first-class theaters. The grand stand will be three decks and 20,000 people will be able to find seats there.

Walter Johnson is showing marvelous batting ability in the practice games at Hot Springs. He helped the All-Americans defeat the All-Nationals Saturday by driving the ball over the fence for his second homer in two days. The score was 4 to 3.

Jack Johnson yawned over the offer of a purse of $30,000 for a fight between him and Sam Langford, saying he was not broke and therefore not in need of pin money. Five years ago the big black man was fighting for meal ticket purses and glad to get on at any price. Now he is cock of the walk and sneers at purses of greater amount than he ever dreamed of in the old days.

DONAHUE SIGNED WITHOUT A KICK

Says He is Glad to Get to Grand Rapids and Will Play Ball.

SOMERLOTT IN LINE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 27.—On his return from a scouting trip through northern Michigan, Dr. Harley Parker found a signed contract of Frankie Donahue waiting for him.

A letter accompanying the document was to the effect that the player expects to report in good condition and give his best services to the local club next season. He states that he is perfectly satisfied and says he considers this city the best on the circuit.

Followers of the game who saw Donahue play ball in Grand Rapids when he was a member of the Springfield team before he was drafted by Boston and sent to the Providence club know that he is a ball player and that he has been handicapped by his operation for appendicitis and failure since to keep in condition.

Much is expected of him here with his return to third base which is the position in which he made his reputation. A change of surroundings may do him a world of good and Parker expects to give him all the chance in the world to hold down a job.

E. R. Somerlott has been tendered a contract by the local management on the recommendation of his brother, John Somerlott, bought from Terre Haute by Washington last season. He played in the Northern Indiana league last season. The doctor also made official announcement on his return from his trip that he had purchased George Kihm from the South Bend club.

John E. Caveny, whose home is at Fontanet, O., and who like Mordecai Brown, is a coal mine graduate, is to be tried out by Parker. He said so little about himself that it is not known what position he will play.

RUFUS NOLLY AFTER A JOB.

Spit Ball Artist Has Been Let Out by Savannah Team.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 27.—Rufus Nolley, one of the pitchers on the Stogie staff of 1909 that won the pennant in the Central league, is a free agent, having been let out by the Savannah management. He says that he is without a job because the club had to cut down salaries to meet a new limit and he would not accept the terms offered him.

Nolley was some pitcher when he was in the Central. He seldom threw anything but a spit ball and only varied from the moist delivery when he was in the hole.

ROANOKE WILL REMAIN "DRY"

So Says Prominent Business Man of the Town—Election Tomorrow.

DECATUR "DRY," TOO

C. L. Hackett, of the firm of Hackett & Son, book dealers and druggists of Roanoke, was in the city today on business. The firm of which he is a member is one of the oldest in Huntington county. Concerning the local option election in his township, which is to be held tomorrow, Mr. Hackett said:

"There isn't any doubt as to how the township is going to go. It will be "dry" by a decisive majority, in the neighborhood of 150. Roanoke has been "dry" by remonstrance and local option elections held for the last five years and during that time we have had a better town in every respect than we had before. Business has been better, taxes less, and the condition of people improved. Added to that is better order, less crime and drunkenness and—well, things are better in every way.

How Decatur Will Go.

Mrs. F. B. Perkins, formerly of Kendallville, now of Ann Arbor, Mich., was in the city today on her way home from Decatur, Ind., where she was Sunday as one of the speakers in the anti-saloon meetings held. Mrs. Perkins is one of the state lecturers for Michigan of the Anti-Saloon league. During the state W. C. T. U. convention held here a few months ago she was one of the prominent speakers and is well known in Fort Wayne. Concerning the local option election to be held in Decatur tomorrow she said:

"Decatur is going 'dry.' The sentiment of the business men there favors a 'dry' town. The people have tried and are perfectly satisfied with the results. Some of the other townships in the county also hold elections. All of them are going 'dry.'"

MAN AND BOTTLE GET NEW VICTIM

Arthur Kramer Says He Was Given Drink by an Entire Stranger.

CITY COURT CASES

That man with a bottle claimed another Sunday victim when he gave Arthur Kramer a drink that put him down and out and caused him to bite off a fine of $5 and costs in the city court today.

Fort Wayne has been greatly troubled by this fellow with his bottle. He is a liberal fellow. He just walks right up to a man on the street, produces his flask without asking any questions and presents it.

Kramer met him on Harrison street, between Main and Columbia. He asked Kramer if he knew where he could get a drink. Kramer said he didn't, then the fellow yanked out a quart bottle and gave Kramer a swig.

Kramer had $5 and came from his home north of the city to go to a show. When he got the drink he didn't, then the fellow yanked out a to sleep in an alley. He denied positively that he had bought intoxicants on Sunday and said his money was gone when he got sober.

The Other Cases.

Ben Bond, of Warsaw, and Fred Warner and Ross Davis, of Goshen, were picked up by Patrolman Mike Brennan for vagrancy and after they had been held on a continuance until Friday Chief Abbott received a letter saying the Goshen boys had run away from home. They will be sent back. Bond had a ring with a set that looked like a diamond. He said it wasn't, but the matter will be investigated.

James Burke and George Riley were fined $5 and costs each for drunkenness and John Sullivan and Ed Murphy got the same amount for vagrancy.

Jack Case drew $100 and costs and thirty days for drunkenness. His arrest followed an attempted assault upon a young woman, but the police were unable to offer proof that he had any connection with it.

Jack Kuhns, charged with stealing a small amount from Weil Brothers, got $5 and costs and thirty days.

PROF. SACKETT WILL COME.

Purdue Expert May Be Secured for Address on March 8.

Prof. R. S. Sackett, of Purdue university, who ranks high as a sanitary engineer has indicated to Chairman C. H. Worden, of the river front commission, that he will be glad to come to Fort Wayne on the evening of March 8 to deliver an address dealing particularly with the problem of sewage disposal. This is being considered as the first step in the scheme of river front beautification. It is probable that a public meeting will be arranged for that date, when the people of Fort Wayne will be given an opportunity to hear Prof. Sackett.

WILL ARRIVE WEDNESDAY.

Rabbi William Rice to Deliver Inaugural Sermon Friday Evening.

Rabbi William Rice, who has been called by the congregation of Aeduth Veshalom temple in this city, will arrive in Fort Wayne Wednesday to take up his work in charge of the local congregation. Rabbi Rice, who comes from Lexington, Ky., will deliver his inaugural sermon Friday evening. He will live in the apartments formerly occupied by Rabbi Ettelson, at the Hoagland.

KAISER LIKES TO MOTOR.

German Ruler Has Just Placed Order for Four New Cars.

Berlin, Friday, Feb. 17.—Emperor William's well known fondness for motoring has just been shown by orders for four new automobiles which he has placed with German firms. With these additions to his garage his majesty will have thirty machines, including a half dozen motor baggage trucks. He keeps five machines permanently at Corfu, whither, with the empress, crown prince and crown princess he will go early next month. Each of his fifty palaces has its garage, with fire proof storage rooms for benzine.

The emperor's car is easily distinguished by the peculiar fanfare of his motor horn, which may not be used by any one else, and by the imperial standard which flies at the right of the chauffeur. At night the flag is replaced by an illuminated glass shield, showing the standard in regulation colors.

WILL VOTE THIS WEEK.

Pythian Lodges to Determine Matter of Joint Ownership.

Both Phoenix and Fort Wayne lodges, Knights of Pythias, will vote this week upon the question of joint ownership of the new Pythian temple which it is proposed to erect on the site of the present Pythian home on Washington boulevard west. Tentative plans have been approved by both lodges. The question of joint ownership will be passed upon by Phoenix lodge this evening and by Fort Wayne lodge on Thursday evening.

Tomorrow there will be changes in the Wabash employes' ranks affecting some very worthy young men and all are in the form of promotions. George Baker will retire from a clerical position in Agent A. L. Gilbert's office, at the freight house, to take a better position in the cost department at the Fort Wayne Electric works. Herman C. Miller, for some time clerk for Yardmaster C. F. Malcolm, will go to the freight office to succeed Mr. Baker, and George D. Selbert, for some time a clerk in the east yard office of the Pennsylvania, will become yard clerk at the Wabash, vice Mr. Miller. Another change will take place in the shop office of the Wabash tomorrow. Frank D. Post, assistant time clerk, will be assigned to other duties and M. A. Thomson, of Logansport, becomes assistant time clerk. He is at the shop office today familiarizing himself with the duties.

HAVE COMPLETED ORGANIZATION

Anthony Lodge, No. 804, B. L. F. & E., in Operation.

The men who compose Anthony lodge, No. 804, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, have been advised by the international officers of the brotherhood that the charter will arrive some time this week. This new lodge of the B. L. F. & E. is the culmination of a movement set afloat by the Nickel Plate firemen over a year ago. Twice it was discouraged by lack of interest among the men and the advice of the international officers, but the men engineering the project were persistent and they have succeeded. The lodge was formally instituted February 17, the work being performed by P. J. McNamara, fifth vice president of the B. L. F. & E., who came here for that purpose from his home in Peoria, and it held its first regular meeting in Vordermark's hall last Wednesday, having rented that hall to meet there each Wednesday. Anthony lodge started out with forty-three members. There are upwards of 125 eligible men in the employ of the Nickel Plate and the charter is being held open to allow them an opportunity to come in as charter members. This lodge is exclusively a Nickel Plate affair, organized with a view of being better able to promptly handle business connected with that road than was the old lodge. Perfect harmony exists between the two lodges, however, the organization of the Nickel Plate lodge being approved by A. G. Porter lodge. Following are the officers of Anthony lodge: Past President, M. P. Perry; president, Nelson Garwood;

DISCUSSING DOUBLE HEADERS.

Officials and Representatives of Trainmen Have Meeting.

An important meeting of railway managers and representatives of trainmen and others in the employ of the railway companies is in progress in New York today. The chief subject of discussion is double-headers and among those participating in the controversy are President A. B. Garrison, of the Order of Railway Conductors, and W. G. Lee, president of the B. R. T. Railroad employes in recent wage negotiations demanded discontinuance of double-heading with trains of over thirty cars, exclusive of caboose, except that double-headers might be run on any district when necessary on account of inclement weather or to avoid running the engine light, or in moving engines to and from shops, providing the rating of the heaviest engine handling train was not exceeded. In case of accident to any engine, provision was made for consolidation, and the consolidated train being brought into the terminal if practicable.

When the wage negotiations were in progress last year none of the railroad managers wished to assume the responsibility for adjusting the question. Each, however, agreed to join in arrangements for and in representation at a joint conference of this subject for all the roads, and the conference is now being held.

ON NINE HOUR SCHEDULE.

Bowser Boiler Shop Makes Temporary Reduction.

Beginning this morning the sixty-five or more employes in the boiler department of the plant of S. F. Bowser & Company will work nine, instead of ten hours, per day. A temporary lull in the demand upon the factory for oil tanks is the cause of the reduction. Mr. Bowser looks for normal conditions in a few weeks.

PAYING OFF SUSPENDED

Pennsylvania Paymaster Distributes Bunch of Cash.

W. H. Rhoads, paymaster for the Pennsylvania, is making a trip over the lines, paying the men who were affected by the suspensions last week. He spent the greater portion of the day in this city, making settlements with the suspended shopmen and trainmen. The cash distribution amounted to considerable.

INSTRUCTING EMPLOYES.

"Hints on First Aid to the Injured" is the title of a little pamphlet that is being distributed to employes by the Pennsylvania. It treats of fractures, burns, electric shocks, unconsciousness, fits and heart exhaustion and also advises coolness on the part of those who go to the assistance of the unfortunate and tells how examinations should be made, how to stop hemorrhages and otherwise look after the injured person until surgical aid is at hand. The pamphlet also urges the employes to attend lectures on "first aid" subjects. Since the company took up the instruction feature with its train, station, yard and shop employes, practically every such employe on the system has attended lectures by the company's medical examiners. Last year 228 lectures were given to no less than 6,854 employes. This year it is the management's intention to prosecute this work even more vigorously.

ENGINE DERAILED; TRAIN DELAYED.

Eastbound passenger train No. 6, on the Nickel Plate, was delayed several hours Saturday night by the drivers of the engine becoming derailed in such shape that the crew could not get them back in position. The wreck crew was summoned. The accident occurred near Valparaiso and so far as damage to property goes, was a trifling matter. The train did not reach Fort Wayne until some hours after schedule time.

INITIATED SOME APPLICANTS.

Nickel Plate lodge, B. L. E., had an interesting session yesterday afternoon, when it initiated a number of applicants for membership. Among the new men are C. C. Crosby, C. N. Crosby, M. Robbins, M. E. Ward and E. Crowell. The membership is now eighty-seven and more are awaiting an opportunity to join, the business on the road being so heavy at present that they cannot find time to get up to the meetings.

Lathrop is off duty on account of the sickness of his little daughter, who suffers from appendicitis. Brakeman E. Campbell, who has been ill a week, is improving, though still unable to work.

HOW TO HOLD CUSTOMERS.

"Most of us," said Mr. Shoveiton, "are looking out for ourselves; I think we'll all admit that. The trouble with most of us is that we don't do this intelligently; we are always thinking of ourselves and our own interest only; and that's where we slip a cog. Let me illustrate:

"I buy fruit to carry home; I've done that for—well, a good many years, and for a long time I bought around in various places. Then one day some years ago I stopped at a store where I liked the looks of the fruit and where, as I noticed a moment later, the paper bags were a little heavier than those I had been accustomed to find. The bags here cost the dealer more, maybe a quarter or a half-cent apiece; but I liked the looks of them. They were good, stout bags that wouldn't break on the way home.

"And when this dealer had put the fruit in one of these bags he didn't simply twist the neck of it and hand it over to me so in a form inconvenient to carry. He folded the top of the bag over and rolled it down to form a handle—and then he tied this bundle around securely with twine, thus making it up altogether into a bundle that was secure and handy to carry.

"Of course I liked all that, and I found that he always did up his packages so or putting on sometimes a wood and wire handle; but always he made the package secure and handy for me. He had some thought for me, and I've been buying of him ever since; and if he should move I'd follow him. I would go out of my way to trade with him.

"The moral is this: Any small storekeeper, if his goods are right, can build up a trade and hold it and increase it if he has the intelligence and the human quality that prompts him faithfully to consider not himself alone, but as well the wants and interests of his customers."—New York Sun.

AT THE MAJESTIC

BARGAIN MATINEE THURSDAY.

The Dramatic Sensation, "The Thief," to Have Extra Performance.

"The Thief," that powerfully gripping drama of a woman who steals in order to make herself attractive in the eyes of her husband, produced two years ago at the Lyceum theater New York, will be seen at the Majestic theater for three nights and two matinees beginning Thursday afternoon. It tells the story of Richard Voysin and his wife comparatively poor who are visiting their rich friends Raymond La Gardes and Madame La Gardes. There is a son, Ferdinand La Gardes, who is in love with Madame Voysin. She laughs at his boyish passion. A thief steals 21,000 francs from Madame La Gardes. All indications point to Ferdinand, the son, and in a remarkable dramatic scene he admits the theft. Then follows the second act—in many ways the most remarkable act ever seen on an American stage. But two people are on the stage, Richard Voysin and his wife the chief characters in this overwhelming, dramatic gem. From lightness to love, the husband assisting his wife in removing her wraps preparatory to retiring, the scene develops until the wife, questioned by her husband as to the source whereby she is able to buy gowns and undergarments of such costly texture, is forced to confess that she and not the son of their friends, stole the 21,000 francs from Madame La Gardes.

She pleads that she took the money to make herself beautiful, attractive and interesting in the eyes of her husband.

From curtain to curtain "The Thief" holds the spectator in a grip of steel, not only by the strength of its story and its great human appeal, but by the many surprising twists of the plot and the numerous scenes which call for acting of the highest calibre.

Famous Opera Star Coming.

Joseph F. Sheehan America's favorite and greatest tenor ever heard in the English language to bring his all star company to the Majestic theater for one performance the evening of Thursday, March 9.

The Sheehan English Grand Opera company this year is said to excel all previous efforts. It consists of the pick of the Chicago and Boston companies. Each principal being selected for his or her fitness for the roles they will sing and the chorus is the cream of the two big companies.

Never before in America has an all star opera company been put before the public and no greator compliment can be paid this organization than to say it is on a par with its famous leader.

"The Chocolate Soldier."

The scene of "The Chocolate Soldier," which comes to the Majestic theater, Friday, March 10th, is laid about the Dragoman Pass in Bulgaria, and the music has a delightful Bohemian tinge.

THE REAL GENERAL LEE.

A Homely Spirited Man Who Loved While He Fought.

(A. R. H. Ranson, in Harper's for February.)

The general's headquarters for the moment were in some public building, and the women sent in breakfast. Loaves of hot bread, butter and coffee. During breakfast the general astonished me by saying, "Captain Ranson, I fear you have not had a good mother." I was indignant, and rather hotly retorted: "You are mistaken, general. I have the best mother in the world." The general replied: "Well, I may be wrong, but there is one thing she did not teach you—how to cut bread and butter. I will show you how." He then took the loaf of bread in his hand, and spreading the butter on the end, cut off a slice and handed it to me, saying: "Now that is the way to cut bread and butter. Look what a mess you have made by cutting off your slice first and then trying to butter it afterward."

I was beginning to understand General Lee and that this was his little joke, and that I should not deprive him of the pleasure of it. I knew he was a grave and serious man and had few moments of fun. He was carrying the weight of the whole southern cause on his shoulders, almost unassisted, and sometimes seriously handicapped. Moreover, I became aware that he was treating me like a son when he scolded me, and I tried to remember this in later days, when his scoldings were hard to bear. On this occasion I took the slice of bread and thanked him gravely for teaching me something.

* * * * * * * *

I had noticed by daylight that a wide sweep had to be made so that we could strike the bridge at a right angle to the stream. When all was ready I rode to the leading mule, and taking it by the bridle rein, swung around on a wide curve. It was dark, but we hit the bridge in the center, the mules going down hill at a gallop, and the lead mules were nearly over the plank road on the farther side, when suddenly something happened in the rear. There was a quick stop and the mules were jerked back on their haunches with great force. I rode back and found the high wheels of the carry-log had cut through the bridge and into the mud underneath, the gun resting on the bridge. We jacked it up and tried another start, but there was no more pull in the mules that night; a dozen pairs would pull forward, but a dozen more would pull back, and after seesawing for a while, I sent the mules back to Petersburg. The day was breaking, so we cut green bushes and twined them about the high wheels of the carry-log to deceive the enemy, and returned to camp, arriving about sunrise.

I had been sleeping in my tent for an hour or two, when I heard General Lee asking for me. I went out and found him sitting on his horse. He asked me if I had gotten the gun out, and I explained. "Then you failed," he said. I went on to say that if he would give me two hundred men who would pull together when ordered, I could get the gun out that night, the bridge having been strengthened. He turned away, saying: "No, sir; you have failed. I will sent Captain W. to report to you."

Captain W. came in the course of a day, and I rode down and showed him over the ground. He made rather light of it. He had moved the heavy guns from Fort Sumter, and therefore had experience. I cautioned him that moving guns over the paved streets of Charleston was a different proposition from this. He tried it that night, but did not move the gun six feet. The next night another officer tried it and failed. On the third morning General Lee rode up to my ten and said: "What was it you said to me about moving that gun with men?" I said that with two hundred men who would act with intelligence and pull together at the word of command I could bring the gun out. He was turning away when I said: "Am I to try it tonight, general?" "No; you failed; I will not give you another chance. I will send an officer to you."

* * * * * * * *

During the day another officer called, and I went with him and his two hundred men that night, and by 2 o'clock the gun was in Petersburg and loaded on the car. When I knew the surrender was a fact, I mentioned to Colonel Baldwin, my chief, that the secret vice money of the army was in our wagon and asked for instructions. The secret service money of the army was used in paying spies and informers who ran the blockade and entered the enemy's lines in search of information, and to obtain such supplies as were not obtainable in the south. Up to the time when Overton Price, clerk at the ordnance office of the chief of ordnance, left the box containing the money was in his keeping and he paid out all moneys. No books or records were kept. When an order was presented, the money was paid to bearer and the order was instantly destroyed. Nothing was kept that could incriminate any one.

Colonel Baldwin asked General Lee about the money, and he replied, "I know nothing about it." Colonel Baldwin said, "But, general, I am asking for instructions." General Lee replied, "Colonel Baldwin, I know nothing at all about the matter and will not discuss it."

Colonel Baldwin then asked General Longstreet, who said: "Divide it among the officers present. The government owes me a month's pay and I should like to have it."

I brought the iron box containing the money, and Colonel Baldwin counted it. He gave Generals Fitz Lee and Rosser $2,500 each. The money was in 50 and 100-dollar bills, United States currency and some gold. Colonel Baldwin gave me $100, put $100 in his own pocket and then gave each of the officers present $100, beginning with General Longstreet. The money soon gave out, and Captain Duffy, chief gunsmith of the reserve ordnance train, complaining of having been left out, Colonel Baldwin gave him $50, the half of his own $100. I heard at the time that Colonel Baldwin offered General Lee some of the money and that he refused it. I was not present when this occurred, but I am perfectly sure it is true.

PRETTY JEWESS SUES FORMER INDIANIAN FOR HEART BALM.

WILLIAM E. WALLING ANNA D. GRUNSPAN JUSTICE GIEGERICH

New York, Feb. 27.—Miss Anna Bertha Grunspan, a young Jewess from Warsaw, testified in supreme court before Justice Leonard A. Giegerich, in her suit for $100,000 against William English Walling, formerly of Indianapolis, the wealthy socialist who married Anna Strunsky, a young Russian writer on socialistic topics. Miss Grunspan charges breach of promise. Miss Grunspan has snappy black eyes, coal black hair and rosy lips. She wore a sealskin coat and a large fur hat.

The plaintiff testified that she met Mr. Walling in Paris. She was living there with her mother. She said she met Mr. Walling in a street as she was leaving a shop in which she was employed. She said Miss Blanche Le Blanc, a friend, was with her.

The young woman asserted that Mr. Walling took her out to dine and related a story of a ride in a cab. She charged that in the cab Mr. Walling seized her hand and kissed it and that later he kissed her on the lips and told her that he loved her. In telling this the girl sobbed, and there was a halt in the trial.

Later she said he gave her an engagement ring and a silver purse, the only gifts she would accept from him at that time.

MODERN MOVEMENT FOR BOYS DRAWS IN ORIENTAL LADS.

New York, Feb. 27.—Ancient and modern China were contrasted in tableaux given by members of the New York Chinese Students' club at the First Chinese church, for the benefit of the Chinese Boy Scouts. In one scene Chinese soldiers armed with short daggers and bamboo shields were shown, while in contrast appeared soldiers with modern rifles and uniformed in khaki.

In a playlet portraying the procedure in the modern Chinese parliament a messenger brought information from the prince regent to the house that the Russian government was meditating an attack on Chinese territory. Advocating armed resistance, the prime minister said:

"Let us tell the world, as well as the Russian government that the day of foreign intervention in China has passed. Let us prepare to fight for the supremacy of the Chinese nation, and for the equality of all men to life, liberty and happiness. Let us once and for all, for ourselves and for our neighbors, crush any nation that works against peace on earth and brotherhood among men."

Other tableaux illustrated the departure of students for America from their homes in China and their return with diplomas from Columbia.

The club has about sixty members who are students in the various colleges and universities here. In the work of organization their corps of Boy Scouts the students have been aided by Major James M. Hitchinson, of the Seventy-first regiment, N. G. N. Y.

In the days of his youth Sir Charles Dilke showed ardent republican tendencies and made many speeches in the house of commons and throughout the country against monarchy. Perhaps the best comment on the episode was that of Queen Victoria herself. It has been said that Dilke's father had been on terms of intimacy with the prince consort. The queen recalled that she had stroked Dilke's hair when he was but a child. "Perhaps," she said, "I rubbed it the wrong way."

ENLISTS IN ARMY THEN DISAPPEARS

Man Accepted at Local Recruiting Station Flees City.

WORKS AN OLD DODGE

Among other things that the officers in charge of army recruiting stations have to contend with and guard against are fraudulent enlistments and the enlistment of dead beats, who enlist either for the purpose of getting a few meals free of charge, before being sent to barracks, or who use their enlistment for the purpose of getting free transportation, and desert before they arrive at the barracks. One of these individuals put in appearance at the local recruiting station last week. The gentleman in question walked in on Sergeant Seiler, the local recruiting officer, last Thursday, and told him that he wished to enlist, stating at the same time that his name was Edward Miller, and that he had been discharged with the rank of corporal from the Fifty-sixth company of coast artillery, stationed at Fort Wadsworth, New York, in 1907. Asked for his discharge papers he replied that he had lost them, but that he had been discharged with conduct good, and as a non-commissioned officer's discharge should show conduct excellent, Sergeant Seiler immediately became suspicious and arrived at the conclusion that the gentleman was either trying a dead beat game or had stated that he had been in the service before in order to enlist, as he was past the age when he could unlist unless he had served previously. Several more questions made this conviction stronger, as the applicant was rather shy on details as to army service. However Sergeant Siler did not voice these suspicions, but examined him. He filled all requirements with the exception that he tipped the scales at 200 pounds, being ten pounds over weight. Sergeant Seiler told him that he could get a waiver on this from the surgeon general at Washington, and gave him a meal ticket. He then telegraphed to Washington for information regarding Miller's service and Friday morning, while awaiting an answer, discovered that Miller had left without the formality of saying good by, and that Uncle Sam was out just two meals and a lot of trouble, as shortly after this the telegram came from Washington with the information that within the past nine years there had not been any such man in the service.

The telegram which was sent to Washington had to go through the recruiting office at Toledo, and Saturday Sergeant Seiler received word that a man giving a name similar to Miller, had been passed on a preliminary examination at Lima and was then awaiting the coming of the district commander to take final examination. The man's description fitted Miller and his weight was exactly the same, and it is thought that he is the man, and if he proves to be, he has the prospect of a term in the federal prison staring him in the face, as a severe penalty is dealt out to those convicted of fraudulent enlistment.

MRS. HUGH B. REED DEAD.

Widow of Fort Wayne Officer Passes Away in New Jersey.

Mrs. Ann Eliza Reed, widow of Col. Hugh B. Reed, died on Thursday at the home of her son, Hugh B. Reed, in Newark, N. J., from double pneumonia, at the age of 75 years. Mrs. Reed was born in Fort Wayne, August 3, 1835, the daughter of Dr. Lewis G. Thompson, who was a pioneer physician of Allen county.

Mrs. Reed and her husband were charter members of Trinity Episcopal church in this city and prior to his service in the army the husband was for many years a druggist in Fort Wayne, but since 1866 the family home has been in New Jersey. Mrs. Reed is survived by four daughters and three sons—Anna, Eleanor, Effie, Belle, Charles, Louis and Hugh Reed—all residing in New Jersey, and by one brother, Byron S. Thompson, of Fort Wayne.

Col. Hugh B. Reed is buried at Lindenwood and it is expected that the remains of his widow will be brought to Fort Wayne for interment in the family lot beside those of her husband.

Guy J. Gilbert to Embark in Real Estate Business.

Guy J. Gilbert, who for the past twelve years has been connected with the money order department at the Fort Wayne postoffice, will retire from that position March 1 to embark in the real estate business in this city. Mr. Gilbert will be sales agent for the Wildwood Builders' company and in addition will handle a general line of real estate. He is a well known and popular young man, with a fine business capacity, and it is expected that he will more than "make good" in his new departure. Before coming to Fort Wayne Mr. Gilbert was for eleven years connected with the postoffice at Angola. He is a brother of Hon. N. W. Gilbert, former congressman and now vice governor of the Philippine Islands.

THIS WILL QUICKLY MAKE A ROUGH PIMPLY SKIN SMOOTH AND VELVETY.

How You Can Make a Pint of Fine Face Cream at Very Little Cost.

Beauty experts say rough, pimply skins quickly yield to massaging with cerol, becoming clear and velvety, and as this costs little and is easily prepared, it should find a place on every woman's dresser.

To make, get 2 ounces of cerol from the druggist and dissolve in a scant pint of boiling water, stirring until smooth. When massaged in the skin it removes all impurities, preventing and dispelling wrinkles and giving the complexion an exquisite bloom and refinement impossible with artificial aids. Men frequently use cerol cream after shaving, as it soothes smarting, itching skins.

COMING BACK TO WAGE CAMPAIGN

Capt. Campbell Talks of Canal to Buffalo Friends.

NEW YORK NEEDS IT

Fresh from his series of addresses in Fort Wayne and at other northern Indiana cities in behalf of the Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago canal proposition, Captain Charles Campbell on his way eastward stopped off in Buffalo long enough to tell the Buffalo folk that New York needed the western canal and to declare that he purposed again an active campaign in its behalf. The Buffalo Times of Friday says:

"Captain Charles Campbell, of New York, sstopped off in Buffalo today to pay a visit to National Chairman Norman E. Mack, being on his way back from an extended tour in the northern sections of Indiana and Ohio, in the interests of the proposed ship canal, which is to eliminate the detour around by the Straits of Mackinaw, the St. Claire and other waterways.

"Captain Campbell in speaking of the proposed canal said among other things:

"This canal would place the state and port of New York again in a position to compete with Montreal for the trade which she has diverted from the metropolis and would act as a feeder to the barge canal. Therefore we consider that it is a good policy for the representatives in congress from New York state to get behind the movement when the question comes up in congress. It is only logical to assume that the people who voted for the expenditure of $108,000,000 on our state canals want them worked to their maximum capacity. Our Canadian friends have enlarged the Welland and St. Lawrence canals, permitting the largest lake vessels to go clean through to Montreal to the head of the lakes without breaking a bulk."

"Captain Campbell left for New York this afternoon, but he expects to return west in a short time and carry out an extensive campaign on behalf of the ship canal."

HAS APPLIED FOR A PATENT.

Fort Wayne Aviator Will Protect His Balancing Device.

Arthur Smith, the young Fort Wayne aviator and inventor of an aeroplane, which was badly damaged in an attempt of young Smith to land after a successful flight several weeks ago, has been busily repairing the machine, which, with the exception of a few minor repairs, is in readiness for another flight. The chief principle about the aeroplane is a balancing device which Smith is confident will excel anything now in use on heavier than air craft, and in the past he has kept his flights secret, as the device has not been patented. He has now placed the matter in the hands of a local attorney, who will apply for a patent, and he expects to soon be able to give a public demonstration of the machine. By the time spring sets in he hopes to have his device fully covered by a patent and will not attempt another flight until then.

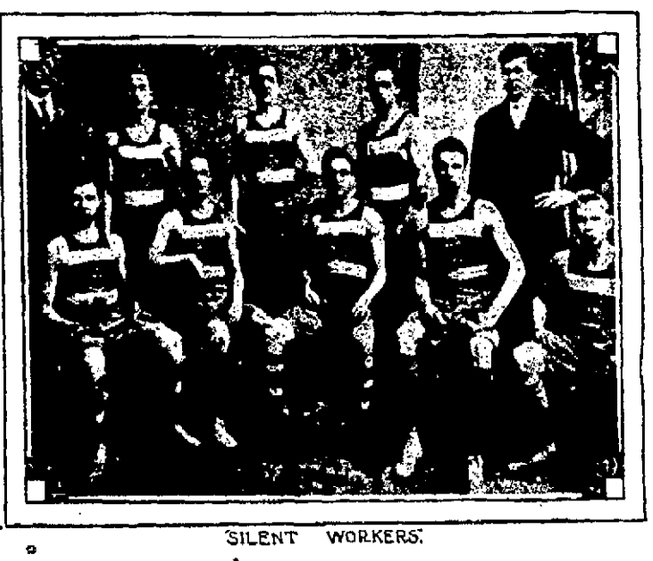
JERSEY DEAF MUTES PLAY BASKETBALL, GIVE STAGE PLAYS AND LEARN TRADES.

GIRLS BASKET BALL TEAM.



SILENT WORKERS.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR.

"THE OLD WOMAN WHO LIVED IN A SHOE."

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 27.—That deaf mute children possess more intelligence than the normal child is the belief of John Pennington Walker, M. A., head of the New Jersey School for the Deaf in this city. Professor Walker has 200 remarkable pupils under his care, and every one is considered a bright student. The children appear as happy as those in other schools, play the usual pranks and enjoy the usual pastimes. Their silence is the only thing in which they differ from other children.

Dr. Walker, who has devoted the greater part of his life to the education of the afflicted, believes that everything possible should be done to make the children, who are deaf and dumb, or both, happy. He says they appreciate the slightest thing done for them, are generous to one another and do not worry because they are not like other children and will have, in a majority of cases, a most difficult struggle through life.

Dr. Walker has asked the state for an additional kindergarten so that education will be within the reach of every deaf child in the state.

Wants Kindergarten.

Dr. Walker believes in training the body as well as the mind, as the school boasts of two amateur basketball teams, one composed of boys and and the other girls, that have no equals in this vicinity. The girls' team has never lost a game while playing with members of their own sex. The girls have beaten the boys' team, known as the "Silent Workers," on several occasions. The boys, however, are the champion amateur basketball players in this section. The time lost by other practising and rarely lose a game. Both the girls and the boys play basketball with a remarkable enthusiasm.

Theatrical performances are given in this remarkable school, and the children love to rehearse and perform. It is an interesting sight to see them appear in "The Doctor," "The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," "The Three Bears," "Old Mother Hubbard" and other juvenile productions. Their zeal and ability in these productions is amazing, and persons travel from all parts of the state to see them perform.

Dr. Walker is the originator of industrial education for the deaf and dumb in this state. In discussing the subject today, he said:

"In former times the deaf were allowed to grow up in ignorance, to become in their advancing years burdens to their relatives or charges upon some charitable institution. The modern thought is to educate them in such a way that when they leave the school they are fitted to make an honorable living.

"In our school the primary object is to make useful citizens. In this, of course, the academic department is paramount, but, second only to this, if second at all, is the trade department. Two full hours of each day have been devoted to the training of the hand in some trade that the child may follow as a lifework. The teachers are expert artisans, and the regime of the shop is that which obtains in the commercial rooms of the state.

Discipline Maintained.

"There is insistence upon punctuality and obedience, and upon attention and excellence, and, when our students leave us, it is with ability to do something in a way that will insure a good living.

"Linotype operating, press work, general printing, halftone engraving, photographing, carpentry and wood working, shoemaking, painting, dressmaking, repairing, millinery and embroidery, all are taught, and with reasonable application every child takes a good knowledge of these out into the world, and is in a position to make a good, independent subsistence.

"The results of this trade teaching are everywhere seen, and there is scarcely a graduate of our school today able to work who is out of employment."

RAISING WILLOW SHOOTS.

The raising of willow shoots for the manufacture of basket goods is an enormous industry in Europe. There are ninety different varieties of willow cultivated abroad, and the majority of them have decided advantages over the product of willow farms in this country.

The culture of willow shoots requires so much special knowledge and such care in the selection of stock that it will doubtless be many years before the American growers can hope to grow basket material which will in every way satisfy the manufacturer.

A recent report, however, tells of one farmer in the middle west who cleared $10,000 on a sixty-acre crop, and certain willow planters in the east and south who after making patient tests of various species have succeeded in growing excellent shoots.

For basket making, a willow shoot must be slender, tough, pliable and cylindrical. In this country no two soils will grow the same quality of willow. Every planter has of necessity to experiment for his own locality and select the species best adapted to his soil and climate.

Importations of the best white willow shoots from Europe will often degenerate in an American soil until they are mere worthless, brittle switches. In the east the willow rust has to be combated, and in various climates various species are immune to the disease.

This whole culture is in its infancy here, but when properly handled willow planting is immensely profitable, and the industry in this country is so enormous that it will mean a great saving to American manufacturers when they are able to buy their materials from domestic growers.—Chicago Tribune.

OLD SORES
DUE TO DISEASED BLOOD

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that local applications have no permanent effect toward healing the ulcer, shows that deep down in the system there is a morbid cause for the sore. But more convincing proof that bad blood is the cause for these places is furnished by the fact that even removing the sore or ulcer by surgical operation does not cure; they always return. Nature will heal any sore if the blood is pure and healthy, but until the circulation is cleansed of all impure matter and supplied with nourishing and plastic qualities the infected condition of flesh is OBLIGED to remain. S. S. S. heals Old Sores in a perfectly natural way. It goes into the blood, removes the impurities and morbid matters, adds nourishing qualities to this vital fluid, and brings about the very conditions that are necessary before any sore can heal. S.S.S. is a perfect blood purifier, acting directly on the circulation through the stomach and digestive members. Its use makes rich, red, healthy blood, which nourishes all flesh tissues instead of infecting them with the virulent matter which keep old sores open. Special book on Old Sores and any medical advice free.

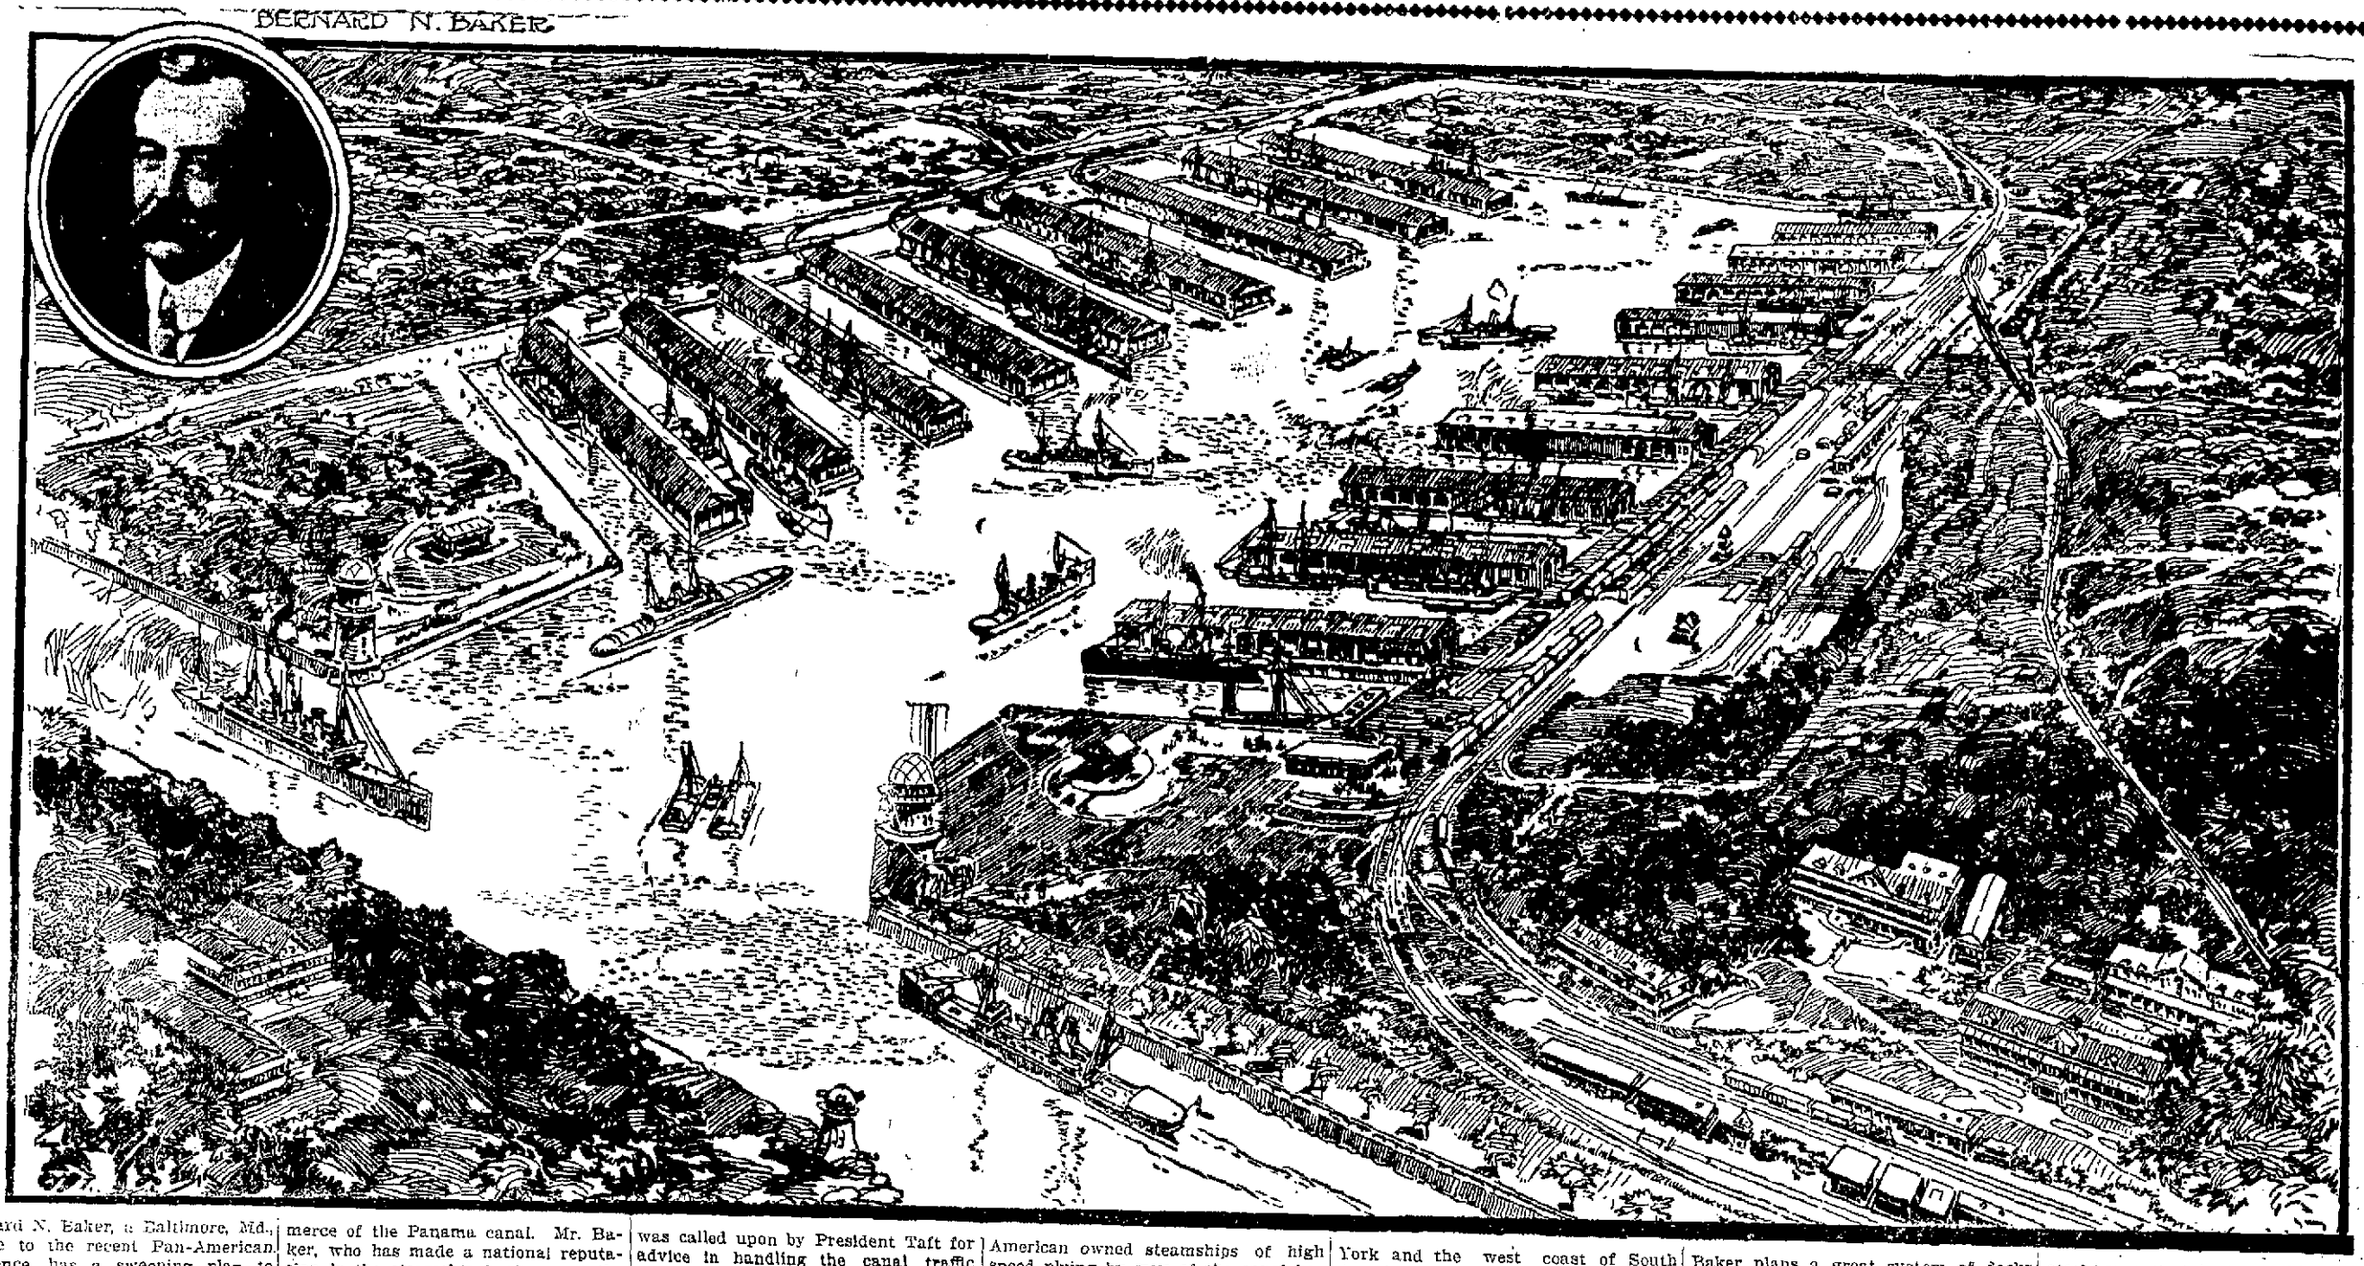
STUPENDOUS PLAN TO GRASP COMMERCE OF THE PANAMA CANAL FOR AMERICAN VESSELS



Bernard N. Baker, a Baltimore, Md., delegate to the recent Pan-American Conference, has a sweeping plan to grasp for American vessels the commerce of the Panama canal. Mr. Baker, who has made a national reputation in the steamship business, at the head of the Atlantic Transport Line, was called upon by President Taft for advice in handling the canal traffic problem. Mr. Baker designs the establishment of American built and American owned steamships of high speed plying by way of the canal between New York and San Francisco; of other lines plying between New York and the west coast of South America, and of still others between the east coast of the United States and the far orient. More than all, Mr. Baker plans a great system of docks at Colon and Panama; a mighty ship basin at Panama or Balhoa, on the Pacific side, and a great system of steel barges to take trans-shipped cargoes up and down the coast of Central and South America. The proposed system has been approved by Mr. Taft.

TERRA AUSTRALIS.

Geographical ghosts are hard to lay, and modern science has a trick of showing that after all the myths had some justification. Thus the venerable father of history, Herodotus of Halicarnassus, was dubbed by the skeptics the father of lies because, with other picturesque information that he collected, he stated that the Nile arose from four lakes among the mountains of the Moon. Even after the lakes had been discovered scoffers would not believe in the Moon mountains, they even doubted Stanley's assertions at ut Ruwenzori; but now those mountains at the head waters of the Nile are frequented by scientific explorers and mountain-climbing royal dukes.

The most brilliant and thorough confutation of a geographical myth was made by Capt. James Cook in his search for the Terra Australis. Geographers for centuries contended that there must be a southern continent large enough to counterbalance on the globe the mass of land found in the northern hemisphere. One of the main tasks imposed on Cook when he made his great voyages was to discover and to define the limits of that continent. He sailed all over the places where it should have been. First he cut down the proportions of what we call Australia by sailing around it on the south, by showing that New Zealand was not attached to it, and later sailing clear up the east coast and through the northern straits. Having reduced Australia to a big island, he made the most gallant voyage on record, circumnavigating the globe close to the Antarctic circle with a cranky ship, in no way prepared for meeting the ice, butting southward whenever the ice would let him and reaching points that have not been attained again. He found no land and demonstrated indisputably that the Terra Australis, if it existed at all, must be of comparatively small area and could be of little use to man.

Later explorers have touched some of the boundaries of that land, and others are preparing to explore until its limits are defined. Now comes Mr. Raymond Priestly, the Australasian geologist, who accompanied Sir Ernest Shackleton's polar expedition and has joined Capt. Scott in his new endeavor to reach the south pole, with proof that after all the polar continent and Australia were joined at one time and that, geographically, there was once a Terra Australis. It seems that when with the Shackelton expedition he picked a small piece of rock from a glacier, this proved to be Cambrian limestone, identical with a like formation found in south Australia. Both rocks contain the same kind of fossils. This, to geologists, is proof that Australia and Antartica were united in a not distant past, as gelogists reckon time. It is remarkable that though the Challenger and other deep sea sounding expeditions have passed through the intervening waters no noticeable submarine connection has been observed so far. But depths of 2,000 to 3,000 meters probably count as little in geology as do so many centuries.—New York Sun.

SPURGEON'S COMMENT.

Rev. A. C. Dixon, D. D., pastor of Moody's church, in Chicago, filled the Metropolitan tabernacle, of London, during the month of January.

The British Weekly, commenting pleasantly upon Dr. Dixon's acceptability in this position, recalls a story of his first visit to England twenty years ago, and his introduction to Dr. Charles H. Spurgeon.

Spurgeon was seated one day in his vestry, a large Bible before him on the table, about which were gathered his deacons in solemn conference, when William Olney entered and introduced to Mr. Spurgeon a very tall young man. Taking in his visitor from head to foot, Mr. Spurgeon—with the familiar twinkle in his eye—quietly remarked: "Well, well, I have always heard they carry things to great lengths in America."—M. A. C.

Alive

The remark most often made regarding the German American Bank is that it is a very much alive institution.

The officers and employes are without exception always looking for and seeking some new way to serve the bank's customers.

If there is something they can do in this direction that they are not doing, they would be glad to have you tell them.

The savings department in this National bank has become one of the features of the institution. It pays 1 per cent. interest on small sums and throws around your savings all the safeguards of the National Banking system.

FAMOUS PAINTINGS BY AMERICAN ARTIST IS NOW IN THIS COUNTRY.

CHRIST RAISING THE DAUGHTER OF JAIRUS. BY BENJAMIN WEST.
FROM BLAKESLEE GALLERIES.

New York, Feb. 22.—Benjamin West's great picture, "Christ Raising the Daughter of Jairus," the presence of which in this country was known to only a few persons, was sold in this city to a western man of wealth and will soon be placed in an art museum in the west. It is regarded by some critics as the most important work of the distinguished American painter ever brought to this country. It was painter in England that he spent most of his artistic career, and there became president of the Royal academy.

The canvas was obtained in Hereford, Wales, last summer by Mr. Theron J. Blakeslee, of the Blakeslee galleries, in which the present transaction was closed. Painted originally for George III., who had given to West the appointment of court historical hung in a cathedral. Several of the English cathedrals, such as Worcester and York, have paintings which were made under the same order. The present work was finished about the time of the death of the English king, and only a short time before the demise of the artist himself. The successors of George III. did not carry out his intention, and the work passed into private ownership.

PORK IS DOWN ANOTHER DIME

Top Price Today is $7.10 —Other Market Prices Unchanged.

MARKETS VERY DULL

Again is pork the feature of the day's market story and again is a decline to be recorded, a fall of ten cents having been made since the report of Saturday. This brings the top price down to $7.10, with the two other quoted grades at $6.90 and $6.75.

And this is the only change in meat and produce prices today. The butter and eggs prices remains as they were the latter part of last week eggs at 17 and 18 cents and butter at 26. The fall in price has increased the consumption of eggs wonderfully and they remain in demand.

Fish remain at near to the prices quoted Saturday white fish at 14cents a pound and pickerel at 15 cents. And this is what one pays for the fish with the insides, head, scales, etc. counted in. Pretty dear with Lent nearly on to us.

The local market in all its departments was very dull today as is generally the case Monday. It is expected to liven up tomorrow. The brighter and warmer days wil probably bring a number of farmers.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 27.—A big decrease in the stock of wheat at Liverpool tended to give an appearance of strength today to the market here. Less pressure to sell Argentine cargoes in England had a similar effect and so did reports that Australian offers were firmer. Apparently, the trade ignored figures showing liberal world shipments and a huge increase of the amount of breadstuffs on ocean passage. Little heed either seemed to be given to slowness of cash demand in the United States, the lack of improvement in flour business and the favorable crop outlook. Opening prices were a shade to ⅛@¼c higher. May started at 89c, to 89¼c with the same advance as the market as a whole, but reacted to 88⅞c.

Seasonable weather and quite free offerings from the country weakened corn. May opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 47⅝c to 47¾c and dropped to 47⅜c.

General selling on stop loss orders left oats without support. May started ⅛c to ⅛@¼c down at 31@31⅛c to 31⅛c and declined to 30¾c.

Lower hog prices depressed provisions, but shorts turned buyers and steadied the market. First sales were 10c easier to 5c up with May options at $17.35 to $17.42½ for pork, $9.07½ to $9.12½ for lard and $9.40@9.42½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 27.—General weakness was shown by the active stocks at the opening today. Losses of a point were sustained by Erie, Northern Pacific, Reading and American Tobacco Co., preferred. International Harvester lost 1¼, and United States Steel on a sale of 5,000 shares and Union Pacific ¾ each. A few gains were made, however, among which were advances of ⅝ in American Agriculture Chemical and ½ in United States Rubber.

The pressure to sell abated after the opening and the market became quiet with an upward tendency. Fertilizer stocks were in brisk demand and their advance gave tone to the general market, which eventually recovered to Saturday's closing. American Agricultural Chemical advanced 3 points, United States Rubber 1½ and American Cotton Oil and Virginia-Carolina Chemical 1. There were a few sharp losses among the inactive specialties.

Sales of stocks bought in sharp decline of last Friday weakened the market at the outset this morning, but these offerings were fairly well taken and the market improved. Uncertainty as to whether decisions of the supreme court in cases affecting Wall street would be announced today limited the demand to small proportions, although there was considerable covering on the theory that none of the looked for decisions would be delivered today and the market in consequence would advance strongly when this was known definitely. Ivy midday prices of the important stocks were ruling a trifle above Saturday's closing and several substantial gains were noted in various specialties such as the fertilizer group. Bonds were steady.

Prices improved a trifle after midday, with New York Central showing a gain of a point.

Speculation was very quiet during the afternoon, but there was a good undertone and securities moved up easily, Reading, American Sugar and Union Pacific ruled a point above last week's close. American Snuff fell 10 points.

The market closed easy. An unusual demand for American Sugar sent it up 3½ points before realizing sales became effective. Traders took profits also in the favorite stocks and the day's advances were cancelled. Some disappointment was felt because the heavy demand which was looked for after it was definitely known that the supreme court would not hand down any important decisions today did not materialize.

SAYING THE RIGHT THING.

"I don't seem to be able to say the right thing to women," a bashful young man confided to us the other day, "and that's why I don't shine in society. I'll tell you an instance of it. Not long ago I met a woman I hadn't seen for years and I could see that she was trying to keep young. So I thought I would say a graceful thing to her.

"'You carry your age remarkably well,' says I.

"Well, the moment I said it I could see that I was in wrong. She was looking chilly and getting red, so I said:

"'Don't mind my little jokes—I never mean what I say. As a matter of fact you don't carry your age a bit well.'

"And then she killed me with a haughty look and sailed away without saying good-by. Say, how should I have put it?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A CHANGE.

Apropos of the new hotel in New York where women, as in all the fashionable hotels abroad, may smoke, Frederick Townsend Martin said at a recent luncheon:

"The cigarette-smoking woman has doubtless come to stay. Times have indeed changed since the nineteenth century, or Victorian age.

"At a soiree during the Victorian Age in Washington square, when a young lady rose to play on the violin an old gentleman named Von Twiller exclaimed in a shocked voice:

"'Good gracious, a woman playing the fiddle!'

"Some time afterward a young man sat down at the piano, whereupon old Von Twiller sneered:

"'I wonder if the dear creature can sew!'"

It is the custom of Emperor William to commemorate his particular achievements as a hunter by the erection of monuments. One of these stones, six feet high, has been put up in a royal forest some miles to the north of Berlin. It bears the following inscription: "His Majesty the Emperor and King William the Second, shot here on January 9, 1911, a big twenty-four pointer, in number of points the finest stag ever killed by a Hohenzollern Prince in the Schorfheide."

INSTINCT OF SEAL MOTHERS.

The instinct of the seal is marvelous. It will leave its young on the ice in the morning, and going down through a hole remain away all day swimming in search of food. Returning in the evening it will locate its offspring in the same "patch" among hundreds of thousands of other baby seals, notwithstanding that the ice may have wheeled or drifted fifty or sixty miles during the day from wind and tide and notwithstanding that the patch may extend thirty or forty miles from one end to the other.—Wide World

For Constipation

A MEDICINE THAT DOES NOT COST ANYTHING UNLESS IT CURES.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our stores—The Rexall Stores. Meyer Bros. Co. Four Drug Stores.

WILL BECOME BRIDE OF YOUNG JAY GOULD.

MISS ANNIE DOUGLASS GRAHAM

New York, Feb. 24.—Rumors that have been in circulation for the last few weeks of an engagement between Miss Annie Douglass Graham and Mr. Jay Gould were confirmed when the formal announcement of the engagement was made at a dinner given by Mrs. Herbert Vos, mother of Miss Graham, in the annex of the Metropolitan club. Mr. Gould is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould. The wedding will take place in St. Thomas' church, April 22.

When reports of the engagement were printed a fortnight ago they were promptly and vigorously denied by the family of Miss Graham and also that of Mr. Gould. This action is now explained by the fact that it has been the wish of both families that nothing should be said until well after the wedding of Miss Vivian Gould to Lord Decies, at which Miss Graham acted as one of the bridesmaids, taking the place of Miss Beatrice Claflin, who became ill a few hours before the ceremony.

Miss Graham was introduced to society here nearly three years ago, and soon afterward went to Paris with her mother and her stepfather, Mr. Herbert Vos, where they passed a year. It was while in Paris that she met Mr. Gould and the mutual attachment began there.
